MORE ABOUT RECENT DISASTERS.

SINGULAR LETTER FROM THE QUEEN'S PRIVATE SECRETARY ABOUT THE ROYAL YACHT DISASTER—THE IRON-CLADS' COLLISION—EXPERIMENTS WITH THE 81-TON "FRASER"—LATE WHEAT CROP.

From Our Own Correspondent.

LONDON, Saturday, Sept. 18, 1875.

A most unfortunate letter, which everybody condemns, or at least regrets, has been written by Gen. Ponsonby, the Queen's Private Secretary, to the Marquis of Exeter, Commodore of the Victoria Yacht Club, in reference to the recent disaster in the Solent. The collision between the Alberta and the Mistletoe is not indeed specifically mentioned, but the letter opens with a reference to the "inquiry at Gosport," which was, of course, the Coroner's inquest on the subject, and is plainly intended to fasten upon the owner and crew of the Mistletoe the whole blame of the accident. It is pointed out that the practice of private yachts approaching the royal yacht when the Queen is on board, from "motives of loyalty or curiosity," is very dangerous, especially in the Summer, when the Solent is crowded, and Gen. Ponsonby adds that the Queen begs Lord Exeter kindly to make known to the owners of yachts her anxious desire that the practice should be discontinued, or it may lead to lamentable results. All this is, of course, aimed at the Mistletoe, and assumes her guilt as a foregone conclusion, in the teeth of evidence which points strongly the other way, but of which no notice is taken. Only two members of the first jury held out against a verdict of manslaughter against the officers of the royal yacht, and though the other jury found "accidental death," they coupled it with a distinct charge of inefficient watching and excessive speed on the part of the Alberta. Yet Gen. Ponsonby's letter takes it for granted that the case has been proved against the Mistletoe, and utterly ignores the recklessness of the real culprit.

What is, perhaps, strangest of all is that there is not a syllable of sympathy or commiseration for the sufferers. The hooting of Prince Leiningen and Capt. Welch, both at Portsmouth and Ryde, showed the excited public feeling which has already been produced, and the gross unfairness of Gen. Ponsonby's letter is certain to fan the flame, especially as there are other indications of a design, if possible, to quash all further proceedings. The Queen has, throughout her whole life, shown so much kindness and consideration to every one, and has been so scrupulous in keeping clear of public controversies, that it is difficult to believe that this extraordinary letter is her own spontaneous act. Unfortunately she is surrounded by too many of those by whom, as Shakespeare makes another English sovereign complain "it is the curse of Kings to be attended," and who are always ready to flatter and indulge the humors of royalty at any hazard, and to swell their own self-importance by the exhibition of courtly contempt for the common world beneath. Ever since the collision occurred the word has been passed about that too much must not be made of it, lest the Queen's sensitive and excitable temperament should be unduly strained; and no doubt this letter is intended to leave the impression that it is only the private yachts which are in fault, and that no more need be said on the subject if they will only be better behaved for the future. Instead, however, of putting an end to controversy, it is more likely to embitter it. It is quite impossible that the Queen can have a so much frequented thoroughfare as the Solent all to herself whenever she wants it; and the bad example of recklessness set by the Alberta has already been too much imitated. A few days ago even a Government steam-tug, at Queenstown, ordered a sailing yacht out of its way, and when the yacht refused, the steam-tug, too high and mighty to change its course, all but ran her down.

SUCCESSFUL EXPERIMENTS WITH THE "FRASER" GUN.

Yesterday there was much elation at Woolwich, on account of the successful experiments with the "Fraser" 81-ton gun, which for the moment is the biggest gun in the world, and, as its admirers also declare, the best. It is a modification of the Armstrong coil system, in which a few long double or triple coils are substituted for several short ones, with a forged breech-piece. It weighs eighty-one tons without the carriage, which brings the total weight up to 120 tons, and it is nearly twenty-seven feet long. There is first an inner steel tube, rifled with eight grooves of the ordinary Woolwich pattern, and having a bore twenty-four feet in length, with a primary calibre of 14½ inches, which is afterward to be made sixteen inches, when the tube will have a mean thickness of four inches. The inner coil is 10.5 inches thick and the outer coil 13.5 inches. There are five coils in all, which are arranged to overlap and underlie, so that each locks into the coil immediately preceding it, thus making the whole structure as homogeneous as possible. Six rounds were fired yesterday with powder charges beginning at 170 pounds and going up to 240 pounds—the largest charge ever fired from a cannon—and projectiles of about 1,258 pounds. The muzzle velocity ranged from about 1,400 feet per second to 1,550.

After the first shot, an extracting-rod broke off inside the gun, and a small gunner volunteered to go in after it. He was immediately hoisted up by his comrades, and rammed in head first, like so much ammunition, till nothing was visible of him but the soles of his boots. He had to go in five times before he was able to tie a rope round the obstruction and pull it out. It is supposed that the new gun would probably carry a half-ton shot seven or eight miles; but though there are already guns which can carry five or six miles, something over two miles is the maximum for practical purposes. So that the capacity of the 81-ton gun in this way, whatever may be its full extent, is not of much consequence. It is expected that it can pierce from eighteen to twenty inches of iron-plating. Though the "Fraser" is, for the present, the biggest gun in existence, there are, it seems, guns of 100 and 110 tons being made for the Italian and some other foreign governments, and Sir W. Armstrong has also in view a 150-tonner. Mr. Fraser, however, is quite in the mood to keep pace with the age, and looks forward to a 160-ton monster which will fire a one-ton shot that at a wide range will make a fissure equal to that made the other day in the Vanguard by the prow of the Iron Duke.

Some interesting experiments have also just been made to test the efficiency of the hydraulic gun-gear designed for the chief turret of the Thunderer by Mr. George Randel, managing partner of the Elswick Ordnance Company. Three or four men can run the gun in and out, sponge, raise, and ram the shot home, and adjust the gun. Under this system the whole work of loading, raising, and lowering the gun, and running in and out is performed by factors placed outside the turret, under cover, and the only men required within are a Captain and two subordinate gunners to superintend the muzzle-pivoting and firing. The whole apparatus is worked by a donkey engine working hydraulic pumps beneath the turret, and by means of valves turned by ordinary locomotive handles. This system has been applied to the fore turret as the more important of the two, since it delivers an end-on fire and thus removes the necessity for exposing the broadside. The economy of labor by this method is such that, while forty-six men are required to work the smaller armament of the aft turret, only twenty are required for the heavy guns of the other, and this number may be further reduced. The guns in the fore turret are 19½ feet in length, the diameter of the turret being 24 feet. In the Inflexible even this narrow space is further diminished, as four eighty-one-ton guns, measuring 27 feet in length, will have to be worked in turrets the diameter of which does not exceed 28 feet! The muzzle of the gun remains almost stationary, while the elevation or depression is obtained by raising or lowering the carriage and slide bodily. These arrangements will enable the turret to either send a plunge shot into an enemy close at hand, or to discharge a shell on angles sufficient to drop it within a citadel or town 8,000 yards off. At present the application of the hydraulic principle on board the Thunderer is regarded as still of an imperfect and tentative character.

THE COLLISION OF THE IRON-CLADS.

The preliminary Court-martial in regard to the collision of the iron-clads is still going on, and promises to be a very long one. There are a great many witnesses to be examined, and every question has to be written down on a piece of paper and considered by the court before it is put, and then the answer is also taken down in long-hand. Admiral Tarleton, in command of the squadron, has been examined, and stated that when the fog came on he gave no orders as to steerage or speed, considering it "more judicious" to leave the ships at the individual discretion of their Captains, in whom he had every confidence. It must be admitted that this is at least a very easy way of commanding a squadron. The flag-ship, (Warrior,) however, fired guns every half hour, and also blew the steam whistle, to show where she was. The Hector, which kept with the Warrior all the way, some two cables off, was the only ship of the squadron whose signals were heard on board the Warrior.

The evidence given by Capt. Hickley, of the Iron Duke, has opened up a new side of the question. He was called up from below just after the fog had set in, and on reaching deck found that the officer of the watch had yawed a little out of line to get clear of the vessel ahead. Capt. Hickley at once put the ship back into line, and just then he heard the Vanguard's steam whistle blowing for six or seven seconds, about two points from his starboard bow, and supposing from this that she was continuing her speed as before the fog, he ported with confidence. He ordered the steam-whistle to be sounded in reply to the Vanguard, but the steam was not turned on, and while it was being turned on the collision took place. The evidence generally shows the difficulty of distinguishing different kinds of steam-whistle signals in a fog, and there appears to have been constant mistakes on the subject. The Captain of the Iron Duke thought the Admiral meant them to keep up speed, so as to get into station and within signaling distance quickly; and he had also observed the Vanguard go off with a spurt on the order for a new formation just before the fog, and he wanted to make up to her. The Captain of the Vanguard, on the other hand, had slackened his speed, but without making a special signal to that effect. Altogether there seems to have been general confusion and everybody at cross-purposes.

THE YEAR'S WHEAT CROP.

Mr. James Caird, who is supposed to be a great authority on agricultural questions, has just published some interesting calculations as to the wheat crop of 1875. He shows that the fall in the prices of wheat last year was followed by a reduction of 330,000 acres in the breadth of wheat, or nearly one tenth of the total wheat crop in the United Kingdom, and that there has generally in other countries been a diminished area of wheat. This year the harvest in this country has been three weeks later than last year, and its introduction to the market a whole month later; and Mr. Caird calculates that, allowing for the surplus from last year, little more than eleven months' consumption will now have to be provided for until the next harvest comes round. This is 22,000,000 quarters altogether, half of which we have at home, and the rest must be got from abroad. From Russia and Germany a liberal supply may be expected. There is also a good stock to be drawn upon in France, and the farmers are holding back for higher prices. Mr. Caird says the chief apprehension is in regard to the supply from the United States and Canada. "From that source during the past three years we have annually received between six and seven million quarters, or considerably more than half our total imports. Should this fail, in any material degree, we might be pinched. About one million quarters of the old crop are reported to be available for export at the principal points of accumulation in the Eastern States, on the eve of the present harvest. In California the crop of this year is reported to be short, and is not expected to afford more than another million quarters for export." He adds that he has private advices from Chicago to the effect that the yield will be twenty-five per cent. short of last year, and even a loss of a bushel an acre, on such an immense breadth of wheat would be a serious thing. The continued warm weather here must be very beneficial in giving backward crops a chance of ripening.

The Prince of Wales comes down from the Highlands to-day and, after a brief stay at Sandringham, will leave London on the 12th of October for Paris, starting next day for Venice, where he will arrive on the 16th, and be conveyed by his yacht Osborne to the Serapis, which, from her draught, cannot approach within seven miles of the city. There will be a day or two days spent at Athens, and also a brief visit to Cairo, while the Serapis goes on to Suez, where the Prince will rejoin her. He will be due at Bombay on the 8th of November, Calcutta a day or two before Christmas, and Bombay again upon the 17th of March. The proposed return voyage round the Cape has been given up. The controversy as to whether a visit to Hyderabad can safely be made, is still raging among Anglo-Indians. J. H. F.

RAILROAD ACCIDENT—TWO MEN INJURED.

HAVERHILL, Mass., Sept. 28.—When the first passenger train from Haverhill for Georgetown arrived at Jewett's Crossing, Groveland, this morning, the tender of the engine struck a cow, which threw the engine, tender, baggage car, and the forward truck of the passenger car off the track. Charles Kidder, the engineer, and W. Taylor, a trackman, were injured, but not fatally. The engineer was so deeply buried in the earth that it took some minutes to dig him out.

MASSACHUSETTS POLITICS.

THE REPUBLICANS AT WORCESTER.

EFFECT OF THE PROPOSED NOMINATION OF MR. ADAMS—APATHY OF THE REPUBLICANS OVERCOME—GOVERNOR GASTON AS A REPUBLICAN—WHAT WAS SAID AND DONE YESTERDAY.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

WORCESTER, Mass., Sept. 28.—Three weeks ago the political campaign which will be fully opened by the Republican Convention that meets here to-morrow, promised to be in many respects tame and uninteresting. There were many reasons for this, among them the fact that there were no great issues in the State. There were no questions of vital importance before the people, and consequently a light vote and but little enthusiasm were expected. In addition to this, it may be stated that Gov. Gaston, who secured his election by the apathy, if not by the direct support, of Republican voters, has performed the duties of his office to the satisfaction of all classes. He has taken the advice of the Republican council, by whom he was surrounded and supported, and consequently his administration has been in the main unobjectionable. Another reason for the lack of interest which was anticipated was to be found in the fact that the people of this State, both Republicans and Democrats, were a unit in favor of hard money and an honest settlement of the nation's debts. Then, too, the intelligent working men, farmers, and mechanics, who go to make up the strength of all political parties in the country districts of New-England, have shown a marked disposition to break down old party lines and, ignoring the dictates of professional politicians, to vote for honest and capable men without reference to the faction by which they were put in nomination. Still further it may be stated that the school question has not yet prominently made its appearance in Massachusetts politics. Under these circumstances, the canvass opened, and the Democratic Convention met and nominated candidates for State offices. It was the character of these candidates which gave the first intimation that the canvass would not be so dull a one as had been expected. A glance at the Democratic ticket will show that the leaders of that party, like their brethren in New-York, finding it impossible to obtain eligible men among their own followers, were obliged to select candidates from the ranks of their opponents. Even Mr. Gaston, who heads the ticket, has always been more of a Republican than a Democrat. He was prominently identified with the old Whig movement, and such men as Congressman Hoar, and others of like standing and experience, express themselves as greatly amused at the efforts which the Democrats have made to win him over to their faction. Gen. William F. Bartlett, who has been nominated for Lieutenant Governor, has always been considered a good Republican, and it is claimed that at least two of the other gentlemen whose names have been placed on the ticket have for years past voted with the Republicans. Indeed, one prominent politician of Boston goes so far as to state that only one of the nominees has been consistently a Democrat. Reference is made to John E. Fitzgerald, of Boston, who is a candidate for the comparatively unimportant position of Auditor, and who is too young a man to have often changed his politics.

Prior to the meeting of the Democratic Convention it was generally expected that the Republican Convention, which assembles here to-morrow, would nominate for the position of Governor either Hon. A. H. Rice or Dr. George B. Loring. Mr. Rice is well known in the State. Several years ago he held the position of Mayor of Boston, and he was a member of Congress for a number of terms. He is spoken of by those who know him best as a man of irreproachable character and great executive ability. Dr. Loring is known all over the State as a gentleman who has frequently sought the Gubernatorial nomination, but who has never been successful. The generally credited report that he is favored by Gen. Butler and the remnant of what was the Butler clique, does not help him in the eyes of the honest men of the party. Notwithstanding this objection it was at one time believed by a majority of leading Republicans that he would secure the nomination. He was supported by strong influences in Boston, and his friends, knowing of the Republican apathy before mentioned, were assured of his success. Within the past two weeks, however, or ever since the rank and file of Massachusetts Republicanism has become aroused to the importance of the present situation, the Doctor's chances have been growing less and less. This has been particularly the case since Charles Francis Adams has been prominently mentioned as a candidate. The Adams movement, so called, has been a spontaneous one, and has assumed much greater proportions than is generally known. Being a movement of the people, and not of politicians, it is impossible to give trustworthy statistics in regard to it, but I think it is safe to say that at least one hundred delegates have been pledged to vote for Adams on the first ballot. It is also reasonably certain that Loring is now practically out of the contest, leaving a clear field for Adams and Rice. It is impossible to state definitely where this Adams movement had its origin, but it is known that the great strength of the gentleman named lies in the western and central portions of the State. His strongest supporters advance in his favor the fact that he has not sought the office which they desire to confer upon him. They state that the reign of politicians is at an end, and they demand that an honest and capable non-partisan gentleman be selected to carry the banner of the party that has always advocated reform and good government. They claim that Mr. Adams is in every way qualified to fill this position. They call attention to the honorable record of his illustrious family, to his own public record, and, taking up the cry, "Adams our Centennial Governor," demand his nomination. At first the movement in favor of Mr. Adams was entirely a popular one, but within the past few days a number of prominent party leaders, seeing the importance which it was assuming, have identified themselves with it and are working untiringly for its success. They desire Mr. Adams' nomination, not only because they believe that he can be elected Governor by a large majority, but because they think his success in November next would result in his coming prominently before the country as a candidate for the Presidency.

CHARLES FRANCIS ADAMS THE STRONGEST CANDIDATE—VICE PRESIDENT WILSON TO BE PERMANENT CHAIRMAN—A HARD-MONEY PLATFORM.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

WORCESTER, Mass., Sept. 28.—Nearly all of the delegates (the whole number is upward of eleven hundred) reached here to-night. Among the prominent arrivals may be mentioned Vice President Wilson, who has rooms at a private house. He has not appeared in public, and will not do so until to-morrow. Hon. Alexander H. Rice is also here. Gen. Butler has not arrived, but he is a delegate, and it is expected that he will be here to-morrow. The friends of Adams, Loring, and Rice have established head-quarters in the different parts of the Bay State House, and during the evening enthusiastic meetings in favor of the different candidates have been held. Hon. Moses Kimball, of Boston, and J. B. D. Coggswell were the prominent speakers in favor of Rice. William Everett, son of Edward Everett, and other prominent gentlemen made strong addresses in support of Adams. Hon. F. A. Hobart was the most prominent speaker for Loring. A large meeting of the delegates who are not pledged to any candidate was also held. Strong Republican speeches were made by several gentlemen. The delegates were called upon to work in harmony and for the best interests of the State, but no candidates were mentioned. The work of the evening develops the fact that all the gentlemen named in connection with the nomination for the Governorship have all their opponents gave them credit for. All the delegates who are pledged to the support of a particular candidate declare that so long as there is the slightest chance of success they will vote as they have been instructed. This being the case, it is probable that the contest in the convention to-morrow will be a long and, it may be, a bitter one. It seems to be assured that several ballots will have to be taken before a candidate can be decided upon. The Adams men are confident, and at this time their chances of success are very good. They are opposed by a strong Boston influence, however, and by most of the men who have heretofore controlled conventions and made nominations. This influence is quietly but effectually working for Rice and Loring.

Several names are mentioned in connection with the minor offices on the ticket, and there is a general desire to nominate entirely new men. Notwithstanding this feeling, however, H. G. Knight, the present incumbent, is most prominently mentioned as a candidate for the Lieutenant Governorship. For Secretary of State it is probable that there will be quite an exciting contest. The prominent candidates are W. E. Blunt, of Haverhill, and Henry B. Pierce, of Abington. Mr. Blunt, who has held a seat in the State Legislature for several successive years, lives in Gen. Butler's district, and has been particularly known for his bitter opposition to that gentleman. Mr. Pierce is a strong Rice man. He is Assistant Adjutant General of the Grand Army of the Republic of Massachusetts, and will be strongly supported by the soldier element in the party. The present Secretary of State, Mr. Oliver Warner, who has held the position for a dozen or more years, will make a determined effort to be renominated. For State Treasurer, Col. E. B. Stoddart, of Worcester, and ex-member of Congress Estey, of Framingham, are mentioned. They are both strong men in their own districts. Charles Adams, Jr., who now holds the position, retires by limitation. The prominent candidates for Attorney General are Charles R. Train, of Boston, and E. B. Gillett, of Westfield, with the chances in favor of Gillett. For Auditor a dozen names are mentioned.

In accordance with the usages of this State, the Republican Central Committee met to-night to arrange the organization of the convention to-morrow. In the absence of Dr. Loring, the Chairman, W. W. Clapp, of Boston, was appointed to act as temporary Chairman. He will call the convention to order, and then immediately give place to Vice President Wilson, who will act as permanent Chairman and deliver the address. The Committee on Resolutions will be headed by Senator Dawes and Congressman George F. Hoar. The platform will make the strongest possible declaration in favor of hard money and reform in the administration of State and local affairs. It is probable that reference will be made to the condition of the Southern States, and a national policy of reconciliation and harmony be recommended.

ACTION OF THE STATE COMMITTEE.

THE PERMANENT ORGANIZATION AND THE COMMITTEES.

WORCESTER, Mass., Sept. 28.—The Republican State Convention will be called to order to-morrow at 11 o'clock A. M., by W. W. Clapp, of Boston, temporary Chairman, in the absence of Dr. Loring, Chairman of the State Central Committee, and organization will be completed as follows:

President.—Hon. Henry Wilson.

Vice Presidents.—Ensign H. Kellogg, of Pittsfield; Liberty D. Packard, of Boston; P. C. Bacon, of Worcester; Charles W. Clifford, of New-Bedford; C. C. Fitz, of Chelsea.

Secretaries.—George S. Merrill, of Lawrence; Ebenezer Nelson, of Boston, and John S. Baldwin, of Worcester.

Committee on Credentials.—W. T. Hall, of Revere; Alpheus Currier, of Haverhill; John B. Smithers, of Cambridge; George W. Johnson, of Brookfield; S. S. Taft, of Palmer; Samuel P. Billings, of Hatfield; A. Bowen, of Shelbourne; Joseph Tucker, of Pittsfield; Horace E. Ware, of Milton; E. E. Dean, of Brockton; John A. Hawes, of Fair Haven; Francis A. Nye, of Falmouth; J. W. Coffin, of Edgartown; David Foleer, of Nantucket.

Committee on Resolutions.—At large, Hon. Henry L. Dawes, Chairman; Hon. George F. Hoar, of Worcester; Walter Allen, of Boston; Congressional Districts—No. 1, J. B. D. Cogswell, of Yarmouth; No. 2, John D. Long, of Hingham; No. 3, A. W. Beard, of Boston; No. 5, William T. Greenman, of Woburn; No. 6, Robert Couch, of Newburyport; No. 7, E. D. Winslow, of Newton; No. 8, Estes Howes, of Cambridge; No. 9, A. A. Putnam, of Blackstone; No. 10, Levi Stockbridge, of Amherst; No. 11, Charles O. Chapin, of Springfield.

Committee on Ballots.—Henry D. Hyde, of Boston; N. C. Munson, of Shirley; W. K. Jones, of Boston; James Kimball, of Salem; William Wells Brown, of Cambridge; Milo Hildreth, of Northborough; Thomas Cardis, of Long Meadow; E. H. Sawyer, of East Hampton; F. L. Waters, of Orange; John Z. Goodrich, of Stockbridge; H. O. Hildreth, of Dedham; J. E. Crane, of Bridgewater; W. Chovering, of Taunton; Isaac N. Keith, of Sandwich; B. T. Hellman, of Chilmark, and W. H. Waite, of Nantucket.

A CIVIL RIGHTS BURIAL CASE.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 28.—There will probably be a suit for damages, growing out of the alleged refusal of the Mount Moriah Cemetery Association to receive for burial the remains of Henry Jones, colored, the well-known caterer of this city, who died on Friday last. Mrs. Jones bought a lot in the cemetery in April last, and buried a sister in it a month later, and last Summer her husband inclosed the lot with an ornamental railing. When the funeral cortège was on its way to the cemetery yesterday it was stopped, as alleged, by a party of men who purported to represent the association, alleging that no person of color should be interred there. The body has been temporarily placed in the receiving vault of the Lebanon Cemetery, and counsel for the heirs has opened communication with the cemetery officials demanding the reception of the body.

TURKEY.

AFFAIRS IN THE INSURRECTIONARY DISTRICT —ATTITUDE OF SERVIA.

LONDON, Sept. 28.—The Times to-day has a special telegram from Ragusa, in which it is said the general position of affairs in the insurrectionary districts is unchanged. The Turkish communication is only maintained by strong columns of troops. The insurgents are increasing numerically, but lack supplies.

The towns of Dobrosselo, Kruschewaz, Tschoplina, Struke, and Ljubuschka, in Herzegovina, near the Dalmatian frontier, have joined the insurrection. The Turks have retired in the direction of Stolatz.

The Morning Standard to-day has a special telegram from Vienna containing the following: Servia is in a pitiable condition. The next semi-annual taxes are to be collected a month earlier than usual because the State coffers are empty. Great uneasiness prevails among the Militia because they are prevented two days weekly from tilling the fields. In some districts there have been tumults and rebellions. The demand of the Servian merchants for a respite for their bills causes bitterness here. The creditors being principally Austrians, some papers demand the intervention of the Government. Epidemics have appeared in the Turkish and insurgent camps.

Servia, replying to Turkey's complaints about the Servians invading Bosnia, declares her inability to restrain her people any more than Austria, which has not prevented at least a thousand Croats from joining the Herzegovinians.

A dispatch from Belgrade says the address in answer to Prince Milan's speech proposed by the minority of the Skouptschina has not been published. It is ascertained, however, that it demanded the immediate declaration of war with Turkey, the reform of bureaucratic abuses, a wholesale dismissal of officials, and the absolute liberty of the press.

A special dispatch to the Times from Vienna says nothing is known there in the best informed circles of any ultimatum from Turkey to Servia.

A CONFLICT INEVITABLE IF MONTENEGRO AND SERVIA CONTINUE TO VIOLATE NEUTRALITY.

LONDON, Sept. 29—5:30 A. M.—A special dispatch from Vienna to the Daily News says that the Porte has addressed a circular to the foreign powers stating that a conflict is inevitable if Montenegro and Servia continue their perpetual violations of neutrality.

The circular of the Porte declares that the present state of things renders it necessary to keep 100,000 men under arms between Mostar and Widdin to watch trespassers, and Turkey is unable to continue this for an indefinite time.

The Daily News reports that Turkey intends to establish four frontier camps at Nisch, Negotin, Zvornik, and the mouth of the River Drin.

GREAT BRITAIN.

FLOOD ON THE RIVER LEE—LINCOLN MEMORIAL TOWER, LONDON—THE PRINCE OF WALES' INDIAN JOURNEY.

LONDON, Sept. 28.—A destructive flood occurred yesterday during the great gale in the valley of the Lee, Ireland. The river rose several feet and inundated a portion of the City of Cork and the country for miles about, occasioning immense damage to property. Similar accounts have been received from other parts of Ireland and from Scotland.

Rev. Newman Hall, in the presence of a select company, to-day laid the crowning stone of the Lincoln memorial tower adjoining the new Surrey chapel. The tower is designed as a memorial for the abolition of slavery and a bond of brotherhood between England and America.

The authorities of the Direct United States Cable announce that it is interrupted in shallow water. The repairing ship goes out immediately.

The Serapis has proceeded on her voyage to Brindisi, where the Prince of Wales is to embark for India.

Among the passengers for America by the steam-ship Parthia, from Liverpool to-day, for Boston, is Hans Von Bülow, the pianist.

The Victoria Foundry at Leeds was totally destroyed by fire this evening. The loss is estimated at $200,000, and 1,500 persons are thrown out of employment.

GREAT BRITAIN AND CHINA.

ADMIRAL RYDER AT CHEE-FOO WITH FOUR MEN-OF-WAR—REINFORCEMENTS OF ARTILLERY.

LONDON, Sept. 28.—A Reuter telegram from Shanghai states that Vice Admiral A. P. Ryder, commanding the British fleet on the China station, is at Chee-Foo with four men-of-war.

The Echo this evening says: "We are informed that the Government has ordered a considerable augmentation of the artillery stationed at Singapore and Hong Kong."

DISSENSIONS AMONG THE CARLIST LEADERS —ILLNESS OF DORREGARAY—THE MEXICAN MINISTER RECEIVED AT MADRID.

MADRID, Sept. 28.—It is reported that dissensions have occurred among the Carlist leaders Dorregaray, Mendira, and Perula, which Don Carlos himself is unable to reconcile.

The Carlist leader Gamundi has been defeated at Castello, in Catalonia.

Gen. Dorregary is ill. He has quitted Estella and gone to the baths of Lorio, on the Bay of Biscay.

The report is confirmed that Don Carlos has dismissed Gen. Saballs from his command, to which Gen. Castells has succeeded.

The Alfonsists continue to push operations in the neighborhood of Oyarzun and Hernani.

Accounts of Carlist desertions continue to be received. Several bands have voluntarily dissolved in Catalonia.

A further contingent of 2,000 soldiers will embark for Cuba on the 1st and 2d prox.

The King to-day received the Mexican Minister, who presented with his credentials President Lerdo's recognition of Alfonso as King of Spain, and congratulations on his accession.

FRANCE.

COMMEMORATION OF THE CENTENARY OF AMERICAN INDEPENDENCE.

PARIS, Sept. 28.—A committee has been formed in this city entitled the Franco-American Union, with Hon. E. B. Washburne, the American Minister, the Marquis of Noailles, and M. Bartholdi, as honorary presidents. The object is to erect a monument on an island in Long Island Sound during the Centenary to commemorate the hundredth year of American independence. A public subscription has already been opened to raise the necessary funds. Several Deputies to the Assembly have joined the committee, including Messrs. Oscar de Lafoyette, (Seine-et-Marne,) Edward Laboulaye, (Seine,) Waddington, (Aisne,) Wolowski, (Seine,) and the Count De Tocqueville, (Manche.) Edward Laboulaye is the chairman of the committee.

M. Laboulaye has sent to the journals an appeal in regard to the statue proposed to be erected in Long Island Sound. He shows how important are the relations of France and the United States, and urges Frenchmen to prove that the country of Lafayette has not forgotten her traditions. The monument is to be a colossal statue of Liberty represented as enlightening the world.

Ex-President Thiers arrived here to-day.

SHAKY CONDITION OF THE BERLIN MONEY MARKET—THE RATE OF DISCOUNT ADVANCED.

LONDON, Sept. 28—The Daily News today in its financial article, has the following: "The condition of the German money market has become most peculiar. Accounts from Berlin speak of the extraordinary tightness of money there. The minimum rate in the discount market has advanced to five per cent., or quite up to the bank rate of discount, and the withdrawal of bullion from the Bank of Prussia has been on such a scale as to raise the expectation that the bank rate of discount is to be advanced. Germany is carrying through a great transformation in her money system, and this tightness is the price paid. In addition to substituting a uniform gold standard for the varying silver standards which formerly existed—an alteration which will come into operation on New-Year's Day next—and a uniform system of token money, the Government has simultaneously altered the whole of the currency and banking legislation. It is the foregoing changes, the pinch of which is now felt."

A later dispatch from Berlin says: "The rate of discount at the bank has been raised to six per cent., and the interest on advances to seven."

RACING IN ENGLAND.

NEWMARKET FIRST OCTOBER MEETING—CŒRULEUS WINS THE GREAT EASTERN HANDICAP.

LONDON, Sept. 28.—This was the first day of the Newmarket First October Meeting. The feature to-day was the race for the Great Eastern Railway Handicap, a sweepstakes of 15 sovereigns each, 10 forfeit, with 100 added by the Great Eastern Railway Company, and 100 by the Jockey Club, for three-year old and upwards; the second to receive 25 sovereigns out of the stakes; entrance, 3 sovereigns; closed with seventy-nine subscribers. Fifteen horses started. The race was won by Cœruleus. The following is the summary:

Sir J. Hawley's b. c. Cœruleus, brother to Blue Gown, 3 years.......... 1
Mr. T. Jennings' Slumber, 4 years.......... 2
Lord Falmouth's Cataclysm, 3 years.......... 3

The betting just before the start was 10 to 1 against Cœruleus, 16 to 1 against Slumber, and 25 to 1 against Cataclysm. The favorites were badly beaten. The betting against Count de Lagrange's Blenheim was only 5 to 1, and the horse ran sixth, and the bettiing against Sir A. de Rothschild's Pedometer was also 5 to 1, and the horse was last in the race.

THE AMERICAN CARDINAL.

CONGRATULATIONS OF THE IRISH BISHOPS ON HIS ELECTION.

ROME, Sept. 28.—Cardinal McCloskey has received a letter from Cardinal Cullen announcing that the entire Irish Episcopate, assembled at Maynooth, has adopted a resolution congratulating him on his elevation to the Sacred College.

THE VATICAN.

MORE CARDINALS TO BE MADE IN DECEMBER.

LONDON, Sept. 29.—A telegram from Rome to the Daily News says that at the Consistory announced for Dec. 8 two more Cardinals will be preconized, and the Pope will explain to the Cardinals the condition of the Church in Brazil and Turkey.

AFRICA.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRES ON THE TUNIS BORDER.

PARIS, Sept. 28.—Advices received here announce that extensive fires were prevailing in the Regency of Tunis, bordering on the Province of Lavalle. The flames had spread across the frontier of French territory. The latest accounts say the fire was devastating the forests of Bemisalah, and that the village of Duvivier was threatened.

GEORGE D. LORD'S CASE.

THE DECISION OF THE MOTION TO STRIKE OUT HIS SPECIAL PLEA TO THE BRIBERY INDICTMENT POSTPONED TILL SATURDAY.

BUFFALO, Sept., 28.—The attendance at the afternoon session of the Criminal Term of the Superior Court was unusually large, as it was confidently expected that the decision of Judge Clinton, on the motion of District Attorney Lockwood to strike out the special plea of George D. Lord to the bribery indictment would be rendered. The Judge, however, was not prepared to decide the question to-day.

Shortly after the opening of the court, Lord, accompanied by one of his counsel—E. Carleton Sprague, Esq., of this city—entered the court-room. Mr. Sprague asked for a postponement of the decision for some days on account of his client's business engagements. The Judge said he thought he might reach a conclusion to-morrow afternoon, but could not promise definitely. He had not the brief of Mr. Cogswell, attorney for Lord, submitted to him until yesterday afternoon, and he had also received a letter from Mr. Cogswell to-day, citing another case in favor of his plea. He desired to give his reasons intelligibly for the decision, and might not be able to prepare them before Wednesday. The District Attorney wished to have the matter disposed of as speedily as possible, as it might have an important influence on his action in other respects. After further discussion the Judge concluded to postpone his decision until Saturday afternoon, which arrangement seemed satisfactory to the respective counsel.

A SYNOD OF REFORMED EPISCOPALIANS.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

CHICAGO, Sept. 28.—The Reformed Episcopalians assembled in this city to-day in synodical convention, the first of the kind ever held in the country. There were eight churches represented, six of which are in Chicago. The delegates numbered fifty-one, of whom forty-three were lay members. A constitution was adopted for the government of the synod, which must, however, receive the approval of the General Council. The chief business of the convention was the election of a Synodical Bishop, and to this position Rev. Charles Edward Cheney, of Chicago, at present Missionary Bishop of the North-west, was chosen. Rev. Mr. Cheney, since his secession from the Episcopal Church, has been one of the foremost in the ranks of the Reformed Church. A Standing Committee was also elected, whose functions are much the same as those of the regular Episcopal dioceses.

WASHINGTON.

SECRETARY DELANO'S SUCCESSOR.

THE SUCCESSION STILL AN UNSETTLED QUESTION—MACVEAGH, ARMSTRONG, AND EX-SENATOR SCOTT, OF PENNSYLVANIA, MENTIONED.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—Who will succeed Secretary Delano remains an unsettled question. Speculation is still indulged, but nothing definite or reliable can be learned. The opinion still prevails that the new Secretary will come from Pennsylvania, and the names of a number of prominent gentlemen from that State are canvassed, MacVeagh, Armstrong, and ex-Senator Scott being presented in the order named. The members of the Cabinet now here profess to know nothing concerning the choice of the President for the succession, and deny that a formal consultation was recently held here by some of them upon the subject. Certain officials of the Interior Department, who claim to know the choice the President has made, express some surprise that the name of the new Secretary has not been officially announced.

THE HAYDEN SURVEY BATTLE.

PROF. HAYDEN DENIES THAT HE SPOKE SLIGHTINGLY OF THE COURAGE OF HIS PARTY—ON THE CONTRARY, HE EXTOLS THEM.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—Prof. Hayden denies the statement printed in the general press dispatches of yesterday from Washington in relation to the attack made on a section of his expedition by Ute Indians, and which quote him as saying that the party being badly frightened ran away, left their instruments, and told the big story to justify their conduct. Prof. Hayden says he has not even intimated that there was any lack of courage in his party, or that they told the story of their battle to justify the loss of the instruments. He speaks in the highest terms of the endurance and bravery of the entire party in their conflict with the Indians, and regards it as quite remarkable that so much of the property was saved upon the occasion.

Information has just been received from A. D. Wilson's division of the Survey from Fort Garland, Colorado. This division of the survey has been at work exploring the southern portion of Colorado and portions of New-Mexico. Though obstructed by storms, the party has been very successful, and by the close of the season will have completed the examination of over twelve thousand square miles. This party have made many additional interesting discoveries of the remains of a prehistoric race that once inhabited the cañons and plains of the interior of the continent.

GENERAL DEPARTMENTAL NEWS.

BIDS FOR THE CONSTRUCTION OF A DRY DOCK AT PENSACOLA—THE FOG SIGNAL ON POLLOCK RIP—NAVAL ORDERS—RETIREMENT OF LEGAL TENDERS.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—The board of naval officers to examine the bids opened a few days ago for the construction of a sectional iron dry dock at the Pensacola Navy-yard met at the Navy Department this morning. The board consisted of Commodore J. W. A. Nicholson, President; Chief Engineer Alexander Henderson, and Naval Constructor William L. Mintonye. To-day they addressed letters to the several bidders, making inquiry as to their facilities for constructing the dock.

The Light-house Board gives notice that hereafter there will be sounded during thick and foggy weather on the Pollock Rip Light-vessel, off Chatham, Mass., a twelve-inch steam whistle, giving during each minute a blast of five seconds' duration, followed by an interval of twenty-two seconds, then a blast of three seconds, followed by an interval of thirty seconds.

Lieut. Commander James D. Graham is ordered to the Washington Navy-yard; Lieut. C. W. Ruschenberger to the receiving-ship Potomac at Philadelphia; Assistant Surgeon T. D. Myers to examination preliminary to promotion; Commander L. A. Beardslee is detached from the command of the Blue Light, and ordered to report to the Chief of the Bureau of Equipment and Recruiting for special duty; Lieut. Commander William Bainbridge Hoff from special duty and ordered to command torpedo steamer Alarm, in place of Lieut. F. M. Barber, detached from the command of that vessel and ordered to report to Admiral Porter for special duty; Lieut. George A. Norris has reported his arrival home, having been detached from the Tuscarora, and has been placed on waiting orders.

THE WEATHER.

SYNOPSIS AND PROBABILITIES.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29—1 A. M.—The barometer has risen in the Southern, Middle, and New England States and lower lake region, with clear or fair weather, except on the South Atlantic coast, where rain has prevailed; clear weather continues in the Ohio Valley and the upper lake region, with north-east to south-east winds, and slight changes in temperature and barometer. The barometer is lowest in Iowa, and highest in the Gulf States; clear weather continues in the North-west with low barometer, variable winds, and slight changes in temperature. The river has fallen twelve inches at Nashville, eleven inches at Cairo, and six inches at St. Louis.

PROBABILITIES.

For New-England, the Middle States, and the lower lake region, clear or fair weather and slight rise in temperature during the day, with easterly to southerly winds and slowly falling barometer.

For the South Atlantic and Gulf States clear or partly cloudy and warmer weather, with south-east to south-west winds, high barometer, and rain near the Carolina coast.

For Tennessee and the Ohio Valley, generally clear and warmer weather, with south-east to south-west winds and slight changes in barometer.

For the upper lake region, partly cloudy and slightly warmer weather, with easterly to southerly winds and falling barometer, and rain in the northern portions of Michigan and Wisconsin.

For the Upper Mississippi and Lower Missouri Valleys, clear or fair weather, variable winds, shifting to northerly and westerly, followed by rising barometer and lower temperature, and light rains in Minnesota.

THE MARYLAND REFORMERS.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 28.—At a political meeting at Masonic Temple to-night, J. Morrison Harris, the nominee of the Republican State Convention of the Citizens' Reform and Merchants' Reform organizations, for Governor, formally accepted the nomination, and opened the campaign on the part of the combined opposition to the Democratic Party in a spirited speech, which was frequently loudly applauded. A letter was read from S. Teackle Wallis, accepting the nomination for Attorney General of the State by the same organization, and defining the ground on which his acceptance was based. The hall was well filled, and the meeting was enthusiastic.

RAILROAD ACCIDENTS.

OMAHA, Neb., Sept. 28.—Passengers arriving from the East this morning report an accident near Woodburn, Iowa, on the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad. Three coaches and one baggage car went down an embankment thirty feet high, rolling over and over. The accident was caused by a broken rail. One man was instantly killed. The number and names of the wounded cannot yet be ascertained, but will probably reach thirty.

LOCAL MISCELLANY.

HOSPITAL PATIENTS ENDANGERED.

PROTESTS AGAINST THE LOCATION OF GARBAGE DOCKS OPPOSITE WARD'S ISLAND—ACTION OF COMMISSIONERS OF EMIGRATION.

The Commissioners of Emigration did not begin their regular meeting until nearly 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The previous hour was taken up with successive meetings of the Finance, Castle Garden, and Ward's Island Committees. The first committee ordered paid bills to the amount of $5,688 74 for supplies, $2,563 40 for salaries in Castle Garden, and $2,139 30 for salaries on Ward's Island for September. They also audited bills for supplies furnished during September to the amount of $4,166 02. The Castle Garden Committee ordered additional bills, amounting to $334 33, to be paid.

There were present at the meeting of the board President Forrest and Commissioners Lynch, Quintard, Starr, Schack and Maujer. A communication was received from the Commissioners of Charities and Correction inclosing communications from Dr. A. E. McDonald, Superintendent of the Asylum for the Insane on Ward's Island, and from Drs. George Ford and Edward C. Mann, Physician in Chief and Assistant on the island, complaining that the Dock Commissioners have established a dumping dock for refuse and garbage at the foot of One Hundred and Tenth street East River, adjoining the ferry to Ward's Island, and separated from the State institution only about three hundred yards. The doctors say that it is a nuisance likely to prove a fertile source of disease, and ask to have it abated.

Commissioner Lynch offered a resolution requesting the President to communicate with the Commissioners of Docks and impress upon them the necessity of remedying this matter at once. In support of the resolution Mr. Lynch said that he and the Secretary of the board, Mr. Jackson, had already called upon Mr. Wales and protested against the location of the new offal dock. Mr. Wales replied that it could not be helped; that the dock was a necessity, and he did not know where else to locate it. Messrs. Lynch and Jackson thereupon proceeded to Ward's Island, and, upon inquiry, learned that the City owns many piers between Eighty-sixth street and Harlem Bridge that would serve as well as that at One Hundred and Tenth street. The whole of the Harlem Flats fronting on the East River between Eighty-sixth and One Hundred and Sixth streets is almost vacant. At the foot of One Hundred and Sixth street is the dock used for the dumping of night-soil. Returning to the Dock Department Messrs. Lynch and Jackson asked Mr. Wales why the garbage dock could not be established there. Mr. Wales answered there was a sunken rock there that would interfere with such an arrangement. On further inquiry it was learned that there is no sunken rock there, but there is a sunken wreck which can be easily raised and removed. Mr. Lynch said that the Verplanck Hospital, containing between 500 and 600 patients, is only 400 yards distant from the new garbage dock, which was used yesterday for the first time. There is a pier at One Hundred and Seventeenth street to which no objection can be raised. Mr. Starr said that One Hundred and Seventeenth street was comparatively well populated, but between Eighty-sixth and One Hundred and Sixth streets there were no houses. The resolution, on motion, was unanimously carried.

At this point Capt. Miller, on behalf of the citizens of Harlem, addressed the meeting and read a monster petition protesting against the location of the garbage dock at the foot of One Hundred and Tenth street, which is the site of a large number of dwellings. The Captain said he had been sent to solicit the aid of the board to have the nuisance abated. He also presented a statement from Dr. O'Dwyer, who says he has four fever patients in the block between One Hundred and Ninth and One Hundred and Tenth streets. Capt. Miller was advised to present the petition to the Dock Commissioners at their meeting to-day, and President Forrest assured him that he would personally and by letter do his utmost to have the dock removed.

Commissioner Maujer was authorized to have temporary repairs made to the roof of Castle Garden. On motion of Commissioner Schack, Rev. Dr. A. Gerndt was appointed Protestant Chaplain to Ward's Island. Commissioner Starr wanted to know whether it would not be more economical to send one of the Commissioners there every Sunday, but he was informed that the act renders a regular chaplain necessary. The salary is $600 a year and lodgings. Formerly fuel was thrown in, but this has been stopped. The Evangelical Society makes up the difference sufficient to enable the incumbent to live. The Doctor is expected to preach in German and English, and attend to all the institutions. The previous incumbent died on the island.

RAPID TRANSIT.

THE COMMISSIONERS STILL CONSIDERING PLANS—THE ELEVATED RAILROAD COMPANY READY TO CONSTRUCT A ROAD.

The Rapid-transit Commissioners have invited additional plans for an elevated railroad, which plans they will receive on any day up to Monday next, when they will announce their decision respecting the plan to be adopted. Yesterday the board met as usual, but transacted no business of public importance. They were, in conjunction with Mr. Navarro, engaged chiefly in discussing the plan of structure and the distances which the pillars must be from each other. The advocates of the Depressed Arcade Railway state that Commodore Garrison has withdrawn in disgust from the rapid-transit scheme, in consequence of the Commissioners refusing to entertain the depressed plan through Third avenue. Messrs. Smith and Morris, the promoters of the depressed arcade plan claim that capitalists were ready to support their scheme as being the most practicable, but that now they will give no financial aid to the proposed elevated railroad. Mr. Morris stated yesterday to the reporters that the President of the New-York Elevated Railroad had announced his intention of not carrying out the contract entered into with the Commissioners for the construction of an elevated road through Third avenue, and that he was in favor of the underground or depressed plan. Mr. Morris further said that the New-York Elevated Railroad had no money with which to build the road, and that capitalists would not be found to support it. Later in the day a TIMES reporter called at the office of the Elevated Railroad Company, and the officers stated that Mr. Morris had misrepresented the views of the company. They had no intention of relinquishing their right to build an elevated road on Third avenue, according to the plan to be adopted by the Commissioners, but they said if the board decided in favor of an underground road they were also prepared to construct it. Indeed, they said that both roads would soon be required, one for passengers and the other for freight. After they shall have constructed the elevated road they will, in all probability, seek permission to construct an underground one to be used solely for freight.

THE HOUSTON BONDHOLDERS.

There was a large meeting, pursuant to adjournment, of the bondholders of the City of Houston, Texas, yesterday afternoon, in the office of J. C. Chew, the city's financial agent, at No. 29 Broadway, to consider the city's proposition to refund its bonds and consolidate its debt. A large majority of the holders of bonds were either present or represented. The bonds in question are of various issues, some bearing seven, some eight, but the greater part ten per cent. interest. Some have, it is alleged, been illegally issued. The city having become too poor to pay the present rate of interest proposed to consolidate its entire outstanding obligations, waiving all illegalities, and replace the present bonds with a new issue bearing six per cent. interest. At the first meeting held last week the bondholders showed no disposition to accept these terms, and after an all-day session an adjournment was had, to give time for consideration. A willingness was exhibited yesterday to accept eight per cent. interest, but Mr. Chew was not authorized to offer that amount, and after a stubborn discussion, lasting several hours, a compromise was effected, and the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That the holders of the bonds of the City of Houston, Texas, in convention assembled, after full and free discussion with the financial agent of the City of Houston of the proposition of said city in regard to refunding and consolidating its debt, do hereby propose to accept a bond of said city at the rate of seven per cent. per annum in lieu of bonds now held by them, it being the distinct understanding that such new issue of bonds shall be made by the action of the city authorities of Houston and the Legislature of the State of Texas such as will fully guarantee an assessment and collection of a tax sufficient to meet and pay such interest and principal as they become due.

Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed by the Chairman of this meeting to confer with the Financial Agent of Houston as to the carrying out of the details of the above resolution.

Hon. Augustus Frank, of Warsaw, N. Y., the Chairman, appointed the following gentlemen as the committee: Albert H. Nicolay, John J. Van Nostrand, and R. H. Arkenburg. The new issue will amount to about twelve hundred thousand dollars.

THE SENATORIAL COMMITTEE.

The Senatorial Committee charged with the duty of inquiring into the manner in which the public departments of the City are conducted, met again yesterday morning at the Fifth Avenue Hotel. Senators Booth, Tobey, and Bradley were present. The question of the appointment of counsel to the committee was up for consideration. Mr. Joseph H. Choate, who in the first instance accepted the position, reiterated his purpose yesterday of withdrawing his letter of acceptance, and Mr. John I. Davenport was then selected in his stead. Subpœnaes had been issued late on Monday night to heads of several departments to attend for examination, but no one was present yesterday and an adjournment was ordered to this morning.

THE HARLEM SUSPENSION BRIDGE.

A map of the approaches to the proposed suspension bridge over the Harlem River at One Hundred and Eighty-first street has been adopted by the Park Commissioners. The approach on the New York side of the river will begin at Tenth avenue and One Hundred and Eighty-first street, and will run over the section marked out for the construction of the Boulevard. It will extend on the Westchester side as far as Aqueduct avenue, spanning Commerce, Sedgwick, and Boscobel avenues. The work of constructing the new bridge, which will be situated a short distance above High Bridge, will not be commenced for a year to come, necessary preliminaries not having been as yet completed by the Department of Parks.

THE STATE ASSESSORS.

EQUALIZATION OF VALUATION—THE CITY'S SHARE OF THE TAX $7,233,315, AND THE STATE'S $5,782,532.

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 28.—At a meeting of the State Assessors to-day, reports were submitted equalizing the valuation of property throughout the State. State Assessor James A. Briggs made a minority report, which placed the valuation in the City of New-York at $45,000,000 less than the amount proposed by the majority report. Messrs. Wilson G. Hunt and Isaac Sherman and Tax Commissioner George H. Andrews, of the City of New-York, were present on behalf of that City and presented a long protest against the adoption of the majority report, which makes the tax of the City of New-York a little more than half of the entire tax of the State. Considerable discussion ensued, which resulted in the adoption of the majority report by the following vote: Yeas—Messrs. Willers, Hopkins, Pratt, Sweet, Fowler, and Hadley—6. Nays—Messrs. Dorsheimer, Raines, and Briggs—3. The report fixes the total equalized value of the real and personal estate of the State at $2,367,780,102, and for New-York City $1,205,531,580. This assessment on the City of New-York is $51,502,404 more than the valuation fixed by the Tax Commissioners, and makes the City's share of the State tax $7,233,315, against $5,782,532 for the rest of the State. Those who voted in the minority were in favor of fixing the assessment on New-York City at the valuation of the Tax Commissioners.

A PROTEST ON BEHALF OF THE CITY OF NEW-YORK.

To the State Board of Equalization:

The undersigned, appointed by the Mayor of the City of New-York, at the request of the Board of Aldermen thereof, to represent the interests of that City before the State Board of Equalization, respectfully protest against the adoption of the recommendation of the Board of State Assessors by the State Board of Equalization, for the following reasons:

1. Because the effect will be to impose upon the City an unfair and unequal share of the burden of the State tax.

2. Because it is a continuation of the unjust discrimination against the City, which has increased the payment per capita toward the State tax from $3 99 in 1866 to $11 03 in 1875, by each inhabitant of the City; while outside of the City the increase has been only from $1 39 in 1866 to $2 48 in 1875.

3. Because the apportionment, as recommended, assumes that in most of the towns and cities the local Assessors, to exaggerate the full value, have sworn to a lower ratio of assessment than that actually used, while in the City of New-York it is assumed that the Tax Commissioners, to diminish the full value, claim to have used a ratio higher than that actually employed, whereby the City is made to suffer injustice.

4. Because the apportionment recommended repudiates the evidence furnished by the State Assessors that the assessments for 1874 in the City of New-York were upon a ratio of not less than eighty-five per cent., which is established by the fact that the assessment upon the three annexed towns of Westchester County for 1873 of $9,000,000 was declared by the State Assessors to be at the ratio of thirty-five and one-third per cent., and the assessment upon the same property when annexed, in 1874, was raised to $23,000,000, in order to equalize it with the assessments upon the rest of the City.

5. Because the apportionment recommended ignores the fact that in a period of twenty-one years the valuations in the City of New-York were increased more than one hundred and ninety-five per cent., being in a greater proportion than in any other county, except in the County of Kings.

6. Because the apportionment recommended is based, substantially, upon the table found upon page 21 of the Report of the State Assessors for 1874, (modified in some instances by a new ratio adopted in certain counties,) which professes to give the full value of the real estate in each county. To obtain the results set forth in this table the concurrent testimony of several thousand local assessors as to the ratios used by them in assessing is rejected, and the ratios arbitrarily "adopted" by the State Assessors substituted therefor. Although the apportionment of the State tax last year was based upon this table, it has no substantial value except to demonstrate the mistakes of the State Assessors. By their table the full value of the real estate outside of the City of New-York was declared to be $2,233,309,817, in addition to $126,161,312 of personal property; and in the City of New-York, $1,935,021,540, in addition to $292,447,673 of personal property. Upon this $8,012,386 of State tax was allotted to the City, and $7,715,096 to the rest of the State. Whereas the full value of the real estate, as determined by the ratios declared by the local assessors to have been used by them was, outside of the City of New-York, $2,422,011,094, and in the City of New-York, $1,394,488,966. Upon this basis the portion of State tax allotted to the City of New-York should have been $4,637,664 upon the real estate, and $2,120,246 upon the personal estate, a total of $6,757,910; and to the rest of the State, $8,969,572 upon the real and personal estates. There was thus unjustly imposed upon the City of New-York $1,254,476 in excess of an equitable share of the State tax last year. This tax represents an excess of valuation in the apportionment of over $173,000,000. It would be a work of many days to analyze the assessments for 1874 by towns, if they were accessible, and the undersigned can only, by exposing the injustice effected in 1874, in regard to the assessments of 1873, strengthen this, their protest, against the further use of a system which has worked such enormous wrong to the interests they represent. (See tables appended.)

7. Because for the first time in the history of the State the valuation of personal property is proposed to be admitted as an element in the apportionment—an element which, if heretofore admitted, would have largely benefited the City of New-York, but, if now introduced, would be to the advantage of several counties which have allowed their assessments upon personal property to decline from ten to fifty per cent. during the past twenty-one years, thereby casting upon the City of New-York during that period a portion of their share of the general burden, as the large increase of assessments upon that class of property in those counties for 1874, a year of depression, proves that such property might have heretofore been assessed by a rigid appraisement. During the same period the assessments upon personal property in the City increased from $98,000,000, in 1852, to $272,000,000, in 1874.

8. Because the introduction of the relative ratios of the assessments upon personal property brings into the question of equalization a problem absolutely insoluble, the defects in the laws, and the various constitutional and other exemptions, rendering utterly worthless any data upon which a computation may be attempted, although it is conceded that in some instances it may be demonstrated that the laws for assessing personal property are treated as a nullity, as, for example, where the aggregate assessment upon personal property in a wealthy county is less than the par value of the bank capital in that county.

9. Because the adoption of the apportionment recommended would give additional color to the allegation, for which the apportionment made in 1874 furnished the ground, that the representation of a county in the Board of State Assessors resulted in a material advantage to that county in the apportionment of the State tax. As, for instance, in the County of Cayuga, where the assessment upon real estate declined from $17,681,138 in 1853, to $17,046,521 in 1873, a decrease of $534,617, notwithstanding an increase in population and in wealth, the State Assessors advised a reduction from the valuation of 1873 of $775,817. In Seneca County, where the assessment upon real estate declined from $9,701,274 in 1853, to $9,248,430 in 1873, a decrease of $546,844, in the face of an increase in population and wealth, the State Assessors advised a reduction from the valuation of 1873 of $983,876. And this while ten other rural counties, not more favorably situated, but which increased their valuations in 1873 over those of 1853, had imposed upon them an additional burden, by the advice of the State Assessors, of from $500,000 to $3,500,000 each in assessment. In the County of Kings, where the ratio of assessment claimed by the local assessors was not higher than that claimed to have been used by the City of New-York, the reduction advised by the State Assessors was $29,847,563, or 14 per cent., while for the City of New-York the reduction was only $23,964,333, or 2 9-10 per cent.

10. Because no Government can retain the affection and confidence, or even respect, of the people where taxation is unequal and inequitable. The apportionment proposed will be an arbitrary exercise of power to oppress and harrass a large portion of the people of this State, who willingly and cheerfully bore the burdens imposed upon them, however heavy, while those burdens seemed to be adjusted with an impartial purpose; but in their name, and in their behalf, the undersigned solemnly protest against the proposed unequal distribution of the State tax, as a gross violation of that justice and equity which should underlie the administration of the fiscal affairs of a free people.

ISAAC SHERMAN,

A WICKED SON.

A LIFE OF CRIME—HE ROBS HIS OWN PARENTS AND IS SENT TO PRISON ON THEIR TESTIMONY.

A pitiable case was disposed of by Recorder Hackett yesterday in the Court of General Sessions, the prisoner being charged with burglary in the first degree and the main witness against him his mother. The circumstances of the case are as follows: James Henry Madan, an industrious respectable grocer, does business at No. 552 Second avenue, and lives with his wife, Eliza M. Madan, on the floor above the store. Their son, Charles H., who is now in his twentieth year, has been all his life a scourge to his parents and others, and earned the unenviable notoriety of being one of the worst young ruffians in the locality. His conduct became so bad that his father had to send him to the Penitentiary for assaulting him, and on being released from that institution young Madan immediately resumed his former course of conduct. He was subsequently sent to State Prison for two years and six months for grand larceny, and on being discharged came back to the City and took up his residence with his parents. His temper, however, had not improved during his residence in Sing Sing, and he amused himself by stealing everything he could lay hands on. Failing in this, he would demand money from his mother, following her around the house and brandishing a carving-knife, in order the enforce compliance with his demands. Finally matters became so bad that the father put young Madan out of the house, agreeing to pay his board outside, and the terrified mother breathed freely again. Her peace of mind, however, was of short duration, for on the night of the 29th of August, while lying in bed in the absence of her husband, she saw her son, who had scaled the garden fence, break in through the window of her bedroom and take from the pocket of her dress a pocket-book containing $8. Mrs. Madan, being in the utmost fear, made no resistance, and allowed him to leave the house without making an alarm. He was subsequently arrested at the request of his parents, and indicted for burglary in the first degree. Young Madan was placed on trial yesterday by Assistant District Attorney Rollins, and the above facts were testified to by the parents of the accused. Mrs. Madan, who appeared to be suffering from the most intense nervous excitement, and had to be assisted to the witness-stand by her sister, almost went into hysterics while giving her evidence. While conscious that she had a duty to perform, she did so with the utmost reluctance, and the struggle between duty and affection toward her son, bad though he may be, was painful. The prisoner took the stand in his own defense, and with the defiant air of the most hardened street rough, denied the burglary, stating that he was at the time working at Pier No. 1 North River. In answer to the questions of Assistant District Attorney Rollins he admitted that he had been once on the island and twice in State Prison, and had been, in fact, all his lifetime the curse of his parents. The case was so plain that the jury without leaving their seats found young Madan guilty of burglary in the first degree. Recorder Hackett, in passing sentence, said that it was one of the most painful cases he had ever been called upon to hear. The prisoner had shown himself a criminal of the worst character—so bad that even his own father and mother had come into court and by their testimony sent him to State Prison. He must have been a wicked son, indeed, when he had so alienated every feeling of the maternal and paternal heart. While regretting to be compelled to impose a severe penalty on one so young, he still felt it to be his duty to do so in this case, and would therefore sentence him to the extreme punishment—twenty years in State Prison at hard labor.

A CONTEST FOR THE CUSTODY OF MINORS.

Thomas B. Oliver died, leaving four young children of his first wife to the care of the second wife, Anne, who put them in Leake & Watts' Half-orphan Asylum. Mrs. Rose McDonald, the sister of the first wife, had the children brought before Judge Donohue, yesterday, on a writ of habeas corpus, and sought to have them awarded to her care, on the grounds that she is next of kin, is able to support the children, and has been appointed their guardian by Surrogate Hutchings. The stepmother made return to the writ that her husband, at the time of his death, left it optional with her to either bring up the children herself, or put them in Leake & Watts' Asylum, and directed that they should not be left to the care of Mrs. McDonald, and that they should be brought up in the Protestant faith. Mrs. McDonald, in traversing the return, denies every one of these allegations; avers that she had never made any threats of putting the children in a Catholic institution; that Oliver was married to his first wife by a Catholic priest, and that there was little doubt that he was willing that the children should be brought up as Catholics. Judge Donohue adjourned the writ to next Saturday, remanding the children in the meantime to the custody of Mrs. Oliver.

COURT NOTES.

In the Surrogate's Court yesterday, the testimony of Dr. Cottin, in the John L. Brown will case, was concluded, and the further hearing was postponed until Friday. The final hearing of the Hersey will case was had, and decision was reserved.

Charles Gomez and his brother Claudius were charged with having four hundred unstamped cigars in their possession and offering the same for sale on the streets. They were committed by United States Commissioner Shields, and bail fixed at $500 for each.

Thomas Martin, a sailor on the steam-ship Charleston, was brought before United States Commissioner Shields yesterday, charged with the stabbing of James Donegan, a fellow-sailor, during a fight on the steamer on Sept. 19. He was held to answer, and bail was fixed at $250. Further examination was postponed until next Wednesday.

The two Custom-house Inspectors, L. C. Nodine and S. W. Swayze, charged with receiving money from the passengers of the steam-ship Queen, with the understanding that certain baggage would be passed without examination, were brought before United States Commissioner Osborn yesterday, and discharged, the Government failing to produce any evidence of guilt.

Recently Judge Donohue granted attachments against the property of the Bank of California in this State, on the application of Messrs. Henry A. Tuzo, Frederick Butterfield et al., and James G. Harper, creditors of the bank. Yesterday Judge Donohue granted an order of publication of notice that these parties have instituted suits against the bank to recover its indebtedness to them.

On Monday night last Charles R. Brinkenhoff, of No. 303 East Nineteenth street, was arrested by an officer of the Twenty-ninth Precinct for disorderly conduct. On his person a combination weapon, comprising brass knuckles, a dagger, and a loaded revolver was found. Brinkenhoff, who is twenty-four years of age, a clerk by occupation, and a member of the Twenty-second Regiment, was arraigned before Justice Bixby yesterday at the Washington Place Police Court, and held in $300 bail to answer.

Richard Van Houten, a pensioner, aged about sixty years, living in Woodlawn, came to New-York on Monday to draw his pension. After drawing it he bought two pairs of shoes and went into No. 13 Pell street, at about 6 P. M., to get a drink, and immediately after drinking fell asleep. At midnight he awoke to find that the two pairs of shoes and $279 in money were gone. In the Tombs Police Court yesterday he accused the proprietors of the house, Edward and Catharine Cassidy, of robbing him. They were held to answer.

At the Washington Place Police Court yesterday before Justice Bixby, Thomas Wilson was charged with stealing from a wagon driven by Charles F. Bussing, a tub containing fifty-three pounds of butter, and with committing an assault upon Officer Ferris, of the Central Office. An unknown person snatched the tub from Bussing's wagon and handed it to Wilson, who ran away with it, pursued by Officer Ferris. On reaching Nineteenth street and Third, avenue Wilson, finding that the officer was gaining on him, turned round and flung the tub and its contents at Ferris, cutting him severely in the face. The officer, however, succeeded in arresting Wilson, who was held in $1,500 bail to answer.

THE CRIMINAL LAW.

SESSION OF THE LEGISLATIVE COMMITTEE—JEALOUSIES IN THE DETECTIVE OFFICE—JUSTICE FLAMMER'S OPINIONS REGARDING THE CAUSES OF CRIME IN NEW-YORK.

The Assembly Committee charged with the investigation of the administration of criminal law in this City resumed its inquiry yesterday in the Chamber of the Board of Aldermen. Assemblymen Campbell, Hess, McGowan, and Dessar were present, and Messrs. Townsend and Aub, as counsel, conducted the examination.

Ex-Detective Clapp was first sworn, and he testified that in December last he was a Police Headquarters detective, and had held the position for five years. He was requested by Mr. Campbell to state all he knew in reference to the alleged theft of horse-blankets by Detectives Heidelberg and Tilly at Police Head-quarters, the blankets having just previously been recovered from some thieves as stolen property. The particulars of the affair have been already fully and repeatedly published.

Ex-Detective Tilly testified that he had been connected with the Police force since 1862 until recently; the greater part of the time he was specially detailed as a detective at Police Head-quarters. He then gave his version of the case, which went to show that it was a conspiracy to bring himself and his "side partner" into disgrace.

Isaac Taylor, Jr., of No. 367 Tenth avenue, testified that in March last he received a notice from the District Attorney's office to produce a man in court; witness went to the District Attorney's office and found that his name had been placed on the bail bond of a thief named Swartz; witness saw District Attorney Phelps and asked him what it meant, and he said "it meant what was on the face of the notice;" witness replied that he never gave bail for any thief, and never meant to; witness supposed that was the end of it, but in July got another similar notice, and again went to the District Attorney's office and endeavored to have it arranged; a little later witness wanted to raise some money on his property, and on searching the record found there was a judgment for $2,000, on that bail bond, against it; that judgment has never been released, so far as witness knows, though he had made repeated efforts to have it set aside; the bail was taken at the Tombs Police Court; witness never gave bail for any thief.

John Sparks, Clerk of the Court of General Sessions and Oyer and Terminer, was next examined as to the rule governing bail cases.

Police Justice Flammer was next examined. He testified as to the custom in the examination of prisoners from the time of making complaint until the commitment is issued by the court.

Being asked as to what causes he attributed the greater part of the existing crime, Justice Flammer said: "From my experience, about one-third or one-half of the whole number of cases brought before me or before the various Police Courts originate with station-house lodgers, vagrants, and tramps. From conversation with them I learned that they flock in here from all parts of the country, and remain here because they are not obliged to work. It appears to me that if these lodgers were provided with a meal in the morning, and put to do some public work to compensate for it, they would scatter over the country, and not concentrate here; as it is they start out in the morning from the stations hungry and cold, and are prepared to commit almost any depredation. Almost every case of whatever sort that comes before me is also in some way traceable to the effect of intoxicating liquors, and I think that a great deal of crime might be abated by a better regulation of the liquor traffic. I believe that the 'bucket shops' furnish at least one-half, or two-thirds of all the cases that come to the Police Courts."

Samuel Hirsch, a lawyer, next testified as to the nature of a civil suit, in which one Moritz Isaacs was sued for the value of goods alleged to have been sold and delivered to him by two men named Goldstein and Schneeberg; he afterward discovered that there had been no such sale or purchase, and that Goldstein and Schneeberg never had the goods they pretended to have sold to Isaacs; they were arrested and committed for trial on a charge of perjury, and subsequently held to bail; the case was sent from the Superior Court when the suit was brought.

Moritz Isaacs was the last witness examined. He testified that he had Goldstein and Schneeberg arrested, and since then had been to the District Attorney's office nearly every day, so as to be admitted to the Grand Jury room to have them indicted; he had not been successful, however, as he was told that prison cases had the preference.

This closed the day's proceedings, and the Committee adjourned to meet to-morrow morning, when they will proceed to the Penitentiary for the purpose of examining some of the prisoners.

THE BRAZILIAN TRADE.

It was announced yesterday that Commodore Garrison's line of three steamers plying to Brazil had been discontinued. The line has been running regularly during the past seven months. Their main dependence has been upon a subsidy from the United States Government for carrying the Brazilian mails, which subsidy expired on the 1st inst. Meantime a new line of steamers between Baltimore and Rio has been started, known as the King Line. They offered to take the mails for ocean postage—about eight cents per letter—and their offer has been accepted, Commodore Garrison refusing to agree to those terms. With the loss of the subsidy a continuation of the service would not pay. News was received here yesterday that the Mimosa, of the King Line, which was advertised to sail on the 25th inst., has been sent to Liverpool for repairs, and that the next vessel to leave for Rio will be the King Arthur, which does not sail until the 24th of October. No mail, consequently, will leave for Brazil until that time.

TUESDAY, Sept. 28—P. M.

There was a firmer feeling on the Stock Exchange to-day and a general improvement in prices took place. The course of speculation was marked by more confidence than for some days past, and altogether operators seemed to take a more cheerful view of the situation. There was also an increase in the volume of business, the transactions reaching 171,000 shares, against 144,000 yesterday. Pacific Mail led in point of activity, and advanced from 34⅝ to 36¾, closing at 36⅜. The improvement was stimulated by a rumor that the company had disposed of several of their wooden side-wheel steamers. Lake Shore declined to 52⅝ in the opening sales, but subsequently advanced to 53⅝. Western Union rose from 75¾ to 76⅜ and reacted at the close to 76@76⅛. Chicago and North-western advanced from 39 to 39⅜, St. Paul from 33⅞ to 34⅜, and Ohio and Mississippi from 15¾ to 16½. Erie opened a fraction lower, but later recovered, the sales being at 16⅝@17⅛@17. Hannibal and St. Joseph fell off from 18½ to 18¼, and rose to 18¾. Michigan Central sold at 53⅞@55, and was at one time bid for as high as 55½. At the close a decline to 54 took place. Missouri Pacific declined from 45¼ to 44, and Atlantic and Pacific Preferred from 10½ to 10. Atlantic and Pacific Telegraph opened ½ per cent. lower, but afterward recovered. Union Pacific sold at 70@70¼@69⅞.

The money market was easy, and call loans were done at 2@2½ ₱ cent. Time loans have a hardening tendency, however, the movement of currency to the South and West leading to a belief that higher rates for demand loans will prevail in the early future. In discounts the rates for prime names are 5½ to 7 ₱ cent., with the supply offering limited. The Secretary of the Treasury has authorized the retirement of $304,000 legal tenders, equal to 80 ₱ cent. of the new national bank circulation issued during the month. The amount of national bank notes received at Washington for redemption to-day was $776,000.

The foreign advices were more important than of late. The London market was weak, and depressed for securities, and United States bonds were also lower at Berlin and Frankfort. The immediate cause for the decline appears to be the action of the Directors of the Bank of Prussia to-day in raising the rate of discount from 5 to 6 ₱ cent., although the London market also felt the influence of the reports in regard to complications between Great Britain and China, and the anxiety felt over the attitude maintained by Russia on the Eastern question. The advance of the rate of discount by the Bank of Prussia is interpreted by some of the foreign bankers here as an evident intention on the part of the bank to attract gold from London, and the expectation is consequently held out of an advance in the Bank of England rate on Thursday next as an offset, although others incline to the opinion that the rate has been advanced merely to conform with the increased dearness of money at the different financial centres of Germany. At London Consols closed at 93¾@93⅞, against 94 1-16@94⅛ yesterday. Old 1865s declined to 106¼@106⅜, 1867s to 107½, and 10-40s and new 5s to 104¾; but the market closed a shade steadier in tone. Erie fell off to 14¾ and closed at 14⅞@15. To-morrow is fortnightly settling day at the London Stock Exchange. The Bank of England lost £11,000 bullion, withdrawn on balance to-day. The sterling exchange market was weaker and the bankers lowered their rates to $4 80 and $4 84, with actual business at $4 79 and $4 83 for prime bankers' long and short bills. There was very little business transacted, the demand being light both from bankers and importers. Gold was quiet, but the decline in securities on the other side imparted a firmer tone to the market, and sales were made at 116¾@116⅞@117, the closing price being 116⅞. Cash gold continues scarce, and borrowers to-day paid from 1-64 to 3-64 per cent. per diem for its use. The steam-ship Donau which left Southampton to-day for this port has on board £28,000 sterling.

Government bonds were firm, with only small offerings. The changes in quotations are slight, notwithstanding the decline at London and on the Continent. The dealings in railway mortgages were brisk throughout the day. The Pacific bonds were strong, and at the close advanced. Centrals reached 106 and Union Firsts 103½. Harlem Coupon Firsts sold at 113½. Michigan Central Sevens declined to 103½. Hannibal and St. Joseph Convertible to 75, and Ohio and Mississippi Consolidated Sinking Fund to 89. Chicago and North-western consolidated coupon gold bonds sold at 87¼@87. In State bonds there was no important change.

The exports of domestic produce and miscellaneous goods from the port of New-York for the week ending this date are $4,100,294, against $5,278,759 for the corresponding week in 1874, and $6,494,941 in 1873. The total exports of produce from the port since Jan. 1, this year, amount to $185,442,681, against $217,992,504 for the corresponding period of 1874, and $215,168,228 in 1873.

FLOUR AND MEAL—A generally strong market has been reported for State and Western Flour, with an active inquiry for shipping brands, especially City Mills and Old Wheat State and Western Flour, the offerings of which have been much lighter, and holders decidedly more confident in their views; also a good demand for trade extras, which have been offered with less urgency. New Wheat Flour somewhat irregular.... Choice Amber Wheat Extras have been in request, particularly for shipment to the West Indies and the Provinces. Family Extras moderately sought after in a jobbing way within our range. Sales since our last have been 23,700 bbls. of all grades, including poor to very choice No. 2 Flour, at $4 25@$4 75; very poor to very choice Superfine and Western, at $5@$5 50, chiefly at $5 25@$5 40; inferior to choice Extra State, at $5 60@$5 85, mainly at $5 75@$5 85; choice to very fancy do., $5 85@$6 35; City Mills Extra, $5 50@$7 50, chiefly at $6 10@$6 35; poor to choice shipping Extra Western, at $5 60@$5 85, mainly at $5 77½@$5 85; choice to fancy do., at $5 85@$6 35; round-hoop Ohio at $5 60@$5 85 for odd lots and lines; poor to very choice Minnesota Extra, plain, $6 20@$7 85, and patent at $7@$9 50, the latter for fancy; Western trade and Family Extra, Spring Wheat stock, $5 80@$7 50; fair to very choice Western trade and Family Extras, Red and Amber (Winter) Wheat stock, at $5 90@$7 50, mainly Amber at $6 50@$6 75; Western White do., Extras, $6@$8 50; St. Louis Extras, $5 90@$8 25, the latter rate for choice; Extra Genesee, $5 90@$7 ₱ bbl....Included in the sales have been 12,700 bbls. Shipping Extras, mainly City Mills, on the basis of our quotations....Southern Flour has been in better demand and held more firmly. Sales have been reported since our last of 1,650 bbls., in lots, at $5@$5 50 for Superfine, $5 60@$6 65 for poor to very choice shipping Extras, and $6 75@$8 50 for ordinary to choice trade and family Extras....Canada Flour wholly nominal....Rye Flour has been in moderate request at essentially unchanged prices, ranging from $4 25@$5 60 for poor Fine to very choice Superfine, the latter rate for very small lots. Sales, 370 bbls., chiefly at $5 35@$5 55 for Superfine.... Corn-meal has been less active at from $3 45@$4 for poor to very choice Yellow Western, $3 50@$3 90 for Jersey and Pennsylvania, and $4 20@$4 25 for Brandywine, from dock or delivered. Sales have been reported of 825 bbls....Corn-meal, in bags, $1 25@$1 75 ₱ 100 ℔.

FRUITS—Foreign dried have been in fair request, chiefly new, at steady prices. THE TIMES BY THE FAST MAIL TRAINS.

The Fast Mail trains to the West now enable subscribers to obtain THE TIMES within a radius of 500 miles from New-York City on the day of its publication, and as far West as Chicago within twenty-four hours. By this arrangement THE SUNDAY TIMES has largely increased the area of its circulation, and can be purchased before noon in towns as remote from New-York as Syracuse and Harrisburg. The fresh demand for this journal is already very large, and in order to insure attention notice should be given at once of any increase in the orders from newsdealers.

We are glad to see that a joint discussion of the questions at issue in Ohio has been arranged between Gen. WOODFORD and Gen. THOMAS EWING. There will be eight meetings, and we have no doubt that the arrangements will be such as to give opportunity for fair argument on both sides. This method of reaching the people is an extremely good one, and we should be glad to see it carried out in every important canvass. Orderly debate is one of the prime instrumentalities of free government everywhere, and there is no reason why it should not be carried on in the presence of the voters. In the Ohio canvass, Gen. EWING has the advantage of an intimate acquaintance with the temper and prejudices of the people, but Gen. WOODFORD can be entirely trusted to do justice to his own cause, which is certainly the best.

The canvass of the votes on the amendments to the State Constitution of New-Jersey shows that all the twenty-eight amendments, except the twelfth, were passed by an average majority of 40,000. The twelfth passed by a reduced majority of 6,734. The total vote was 96,552, or about seven-tenths of the average vote of the State. It is a very instructive fact that the Catholic opposition to the clause forbidding grants to sectarian institutions did not call out more than 2,000 votes. There must be from 15,000 to 20,000 voters of Roman Catholic faith in New-Jersey, yet nine-tenths of them disregarded the urgent and direct appeals of the Church to vote against the objectionable amendments. While this ought to be a lesson to the Roman Catholic priesthood to abstain from compromising their absolute authority in spiritual matters by meddling with questions of current politics, it need not blind the Protestant voters of the country to the dangers of such interference when made under more favorable circumstances. The Roman Catholic voters of New-Jersey are in too small a minority to render it possible for them to affect an issue on which the majority of both political parties were opposed to them. But it would be rash to conclude that in States where their votes would count for something, Roman Catholics would not be more prompt in obeying the commands of the Church.

In another column will be found the protest lodged on behalf of the tax-payers of New-York against the arbitrary and unjust valuation of real and personal estate in this City made by the State Assessors. Tax Commissioner ANDREWS, and his colleagues, Messrs. ISAAC SHERMAN and WILSON G. HUNT, presented ten unanswerable arguments against the methods employed by the State Assessors in fixing the valuation on which New-York should pay its quota of the State tax. These arguments were fully sustained by a tabular comparison of the valuations of other counties throughout the State, and it was clearly demonstrated that on the valuations of last year the real estate of this City had been compelled to pay one million and a quarter more than its fair proportion of the State tax. This year the injustice is to be repeated in a still more decided form, as the majority of the State Board of Equalization have sustained the State Assessors in fixing the valuation of this City at some fifty millions higher than the figure reached by the local Assessors. Of the twelve millions of State tax, New-York City will thus be called upon to pay over seven millions.

Mr. BENNETT has accepted the challenge of the owner of the Mohawk with an explicitness which leaves nothing to be desired. The time allowance which the rules of the New-York Club would require the Mohawk to give the Dauntless, Mr. BENNETT "cheerfully waives," and on Tuesday, Oct. 26, the match will come off which is to test the sailing qualities of the representative centre-board yacht in a seaway. The race can hardly fail to be the most interesting yachting contest of the season, and it ought to have a healthy influence in stimulating the practice of a noble sport during the season when seamanship and seaworthiness count for something.

With characteristic pluck and energy, Mr. BENNETT has decided to take up the challenge of the Resolute also. The conditions named in Mr. HATCH's letter are, in Mr. BENNETT's opinion, governed by the rules of the New-York Yacht Club, and do not, therefore, seem to require detailed statement. The commander of the Dauntless is ready to accept the challenge of the Resolute with two qualifications, first, that the contestants are not to be obliged to go over the course—from the Sandy-Hook Light-ship to the Five-fathom Light-ship off Cape May and back—till they are able to make it in thirty hours; the race must be decided irrespective of time; second, instead of the dinner, with the indefinite number of plates, which Mr. HATCH proposes to make the reward of victory, Mr. BENNETT wishes to substitute a similar prize to that agreed upon for the contest between the Mohawk and Dauntless—a cup of the value of one thousand dollars. If Mr. HATCH "means business," the Dauntless will be ready to meet the Resolute on Saturday, Oct. 30.

The Evening Post displays rather more zeal than knowledge in its persistent following of "TILDEN'S gonfalon." In moralizing after its deadly lively fashion on the decomposition of parties, it announces the startling discovery that the Democratic State Central Committee "already recognizes this inevitable tendency of things in dating its documents from the Democratic Republican State Committee Room, Albany." Suppose the Post should set about discovering the time when the Democratic State Committee did not use this phraseology. Its researches into this interesting question might have the result of enabling it to become a more serviceable organ of the party, even if they did suggest some doubts about the expediency of slavishly following anybody's gonfalon. All the requisite information can be got out of its own files, and an attentive reading of these might prevent the persons now intrusted with its "editorial" writing from perpetrating blunders calculated to make its old Jeffersonian conductors turn in their graves.

IS INFLATION REPUDIATION?

It is to be noticed that the Democratic organs in Ohio do not seriously deny that that their party is in favor of repudiation as well as inflation; but some of the more cautious of the Republican speakers seem to think it necessary to concede that the Democrats are not repudiationists. This is a mistake. The Democrats of Ohio, who stand on the platform of the State Convention are repudiators, pure and simple. They have declared themselves so, and they must bear the odium of their own declarations. Moreover, it will be found, should inflation be tolerated for any reason or by any party, that it leads as inevitably to repudiation as water runs down hill.

In the first place, it would be an act of naked repudiation to increase the issue of legal-tender notes under any pretext whatever. The limit of the notes is fixed by law. It was so fixed in order to give a certain degree of security to those who held pledges of the national credit in any form. The limit cannot be passed without the violation of an expressed obligation, and if that is not repudiation, without disguise or qualification, we should like to know what would be. In the next place the Government has promised that the greenbacks shall be redeemed in specie on the 1st day of January, 1879. If that is to be done, no more notes can be issued between this time and that. An increased issue would, therefore, necessarily involve repudiation of this solemn promise.

Again, in order to provide for the fulfillment of the promise we have referred to, Congress ordered that whenever $100 currency should be issued to the national banks, $80 in legal tenders should be retired and canceled by the Treasury. The Democrats of Ohio demand that this "policy be abandoned." But this policy is a part of the contract contained in the law, with the holder of the legal tenders. To abandon it, and to allow the legal tenders to remain undiminished, while their value is lessened through an increase of the total volume of the currency, is an act of bad faith. It is not distinctly and in form repudiation, but it is so in spirit and in substance.

There is a narrower definition of repudiation, to which the Ohio Democrats might like to confine those who accuse them of proposing this crime. It is, that repudiation consists in the out-and-out refusal to pay the debts of the Government, whether in notes or bonds. But this limitation of the offense will not shield them. The proposition of the Democrats to repeal the law of last Winter which promises redemption in 1879 is in substance a refusal to pay the notes of the Government according to the contract with the holders. The law of last Winter fixed a date for the fulfillment of the promise previously undefined on the face of every greenback, and the payment at that date has become as much a part of the obligation of the note as the indefinite promise to pay which it at first contained. To repeal that law is substantially repudiation.

In addition to this evidence that the Democrats mean repudiation, we have other, less direct but quite as important. It is notorious that the authors of the Ohio Democratic platform this year are the men who invented the national Democratic platform in 1868 and the Ohio platform of last year. Both of these declared in favor of repudiation boldly and with no equivocation. The only reason why this was not done again this year was that the inflation plank was quite enough, if carried out, to accomplish repudiation as well. To them it was perfectly plain that one deliberate act of inflation would remove all obstacles to repudiation. A nation which could tolerate the first would not stick at the second; a Congress shameless enough to adopt the first would have no scruples about the second. The one is every whit as bad as the other. There is no moral distinction between the two.

And there is just as little practical distinction. The issue of more legal-tender notes in time of profound peace, when all shadow of war, or of the disturbance that followed the war, is gone, especially such an issue in contradiction to the Constitution, as a mere bankrupt's device, would place this country on a level with Turkey. The credit of the Government would be completely gone. Our bonds would come back upon our markets in a flood. With new issues of greenbacks, these would constantly depreciate in value until the payment of the bonds in gold would demand a sum so enormous that no administration capable of undertaking inflation in the first place would dare to try to pay them.

From every point of view that we choose to adopt, repudiation is seen to follow the application of the Ohio Democratic principles. Do the people of this country fully understand what must be the consequences if once a serious stain is put on our national honor? They need not flatter themselves that this honor is an abstraction, a mere creation of the imagination, devised by theorists. It is as practical a reality as the business credit of a merchant—as the reputation, for instance, of BROWN BROTHERS & CO. or DREXEL, MORGAN & CO. National honor is the measure of ability of the nation as a whole and of corporate bodies in the nation, as a rule, to command confidence. If national honor be broken down, corporate credit cannot long survive. In Pennsylvania, for instance, a very large amount of English capital is invested in railways and coal mines. If the country were once to commit itself to inflation and repudiation, that capital would be withdrawn as rapidly as possible, and the enterprises which it now sustains would be allowed to sink. This is just as certain as that the readers of this paper would take their money out of a bank if they thought that the bank was about to fail. And what is true of Pennsylvania is true of Illinois and Ohio and Missouri, and more or less of every State in the Union. For many years we have been borrowing, in one form or another, from abroad. One distinct act of bad faith—possibly the mere victory of the inflationists in Ohio—would set those who have loaned us money to getting it back again, and would bar our getting more. A general conviction that repudiation is possible in this country would be a disaster to which the panic of 1873, or all those which have preceded it, would be as nothing. It is largely for the people of Ohio to say whether such a disaster shall be invited or rendered impossible.

MASSACHUSETTS POLITICS.

New elements introduced into the Gubernatorial contest in Massachusetts within a few weeks are lending great interest to a canvass that promised to be very dull. In 1874, to the surprise of almost everybody, the Democrats elected GASTON for Governor by a majority of seven thousand, in a total vote of about one hundred and eighty-five thousand. The Republican majority in the election of the previous year was over twelve thousand, so that the Democrats had gained nineteen thousand in a total vote which was more than fifty thousand larger than that of the year before. The Legislature of 1874-5, however, had a Republican majority; and the Governor's Council, which is elected by a popular vote in Massachusetts, was also Republican. Gov. GASTON, accordingly, has had no opportunity for any display of party tactics. It is not certain that he would have displayed any if he had had the chance; he is a conservative politician, and his sympathies have been with the old line "Silver Gray Whigs," rather than with those bitter partisans who were proud of the title of "Copperhead," which they won during the rebellion. Gov. GASTON'S administration has been honest, businesslike, and exempt from severe criticism from any quarter. Personally, the Democratic Governor of Massachusetts is not popular; but then, he has few or no enemies, which is is an excellent thing in politics. The Democrats of that State have no available candidates to spare, or they would not have gone into the Republican camp to fill up the ticket which they have just nominated. So the Governor was sure of the nomination, which he was given with acclamation.

Up to the time of the assembling of the Democratic Convention at Worcester, the Republicans were engaged in a sharp contest over the merits and claims of two leading candidates. These were ALEXANDER H. RICE and GEORGE B. LORING. Mr. RICE is strong in Boston and in the eastern part of the State. He represents the substantial and eminently respectable elements of the Republican Party in Boston, where, for many years, he has been actively engaged in business. He was once or twice Mayor of the city, and he served with credit in four Congresses, being most of the time at the head of the Committee on Naval Affairs. His integrity is unimpeachable. His personal qualifications for executive office are of a high order, and his career has been dignified and honorable. It is urged against him that he is cold and "aristocratic," and the commonest cry of his opponents is that he "represents Beacon street," a locality, which, in ancient times, was supposed to lodge all the city families of blue blood and high degree. Dr. LORING, as President of the State Senate, an amateur agriculturist, and a frequent candidate for office, has long been prominent in Massachusetts. He is objectionable to many Republicans on account of his long fidelity to the Democratic Party. His fealty lasted until late into the war of the rebellion, and took the form of out-spoken defense of party policy when the Fugitive Slave bill created so much bitter discussion in the Northern States. The widely circulated report that he has the sympathy and counsel of the redoubtable BENJAMIN F. BUTLER, in whose old Congressional district LORING resides, has not helped him in his canvass. The western part of the State was expected to furnish the main part of LORING'S strength. So far, however, the result has been a disappointment to his friends. The western delegates go to Worcester largely unpledged, though many are said to be committed to CHARLES FRANCIS ADAMS.

There are about eleven hundred delegates to the convention, which meets at Worcester to-day. RICE'S friends claim over four hundred. The LORING men do not appear to have much more than two hundred men who can be considered sure to vote for him. The remainder are unpledged, though it is said that more than one hundred of these are bound to vote for ADAMS on the first ballot. Where they will go after that preliminary test of strength is by no means certain. If LORING should withdraw in consequence of the unexpected disappointment in Western Massachusetts, the nomination of RICE appears almost inevitable, unless ADAMS should have more strength than appears on the surface of things. For some reason, the LORING interest is reckoned as hostile to the nomination of ADAMS; and, in the event of LORING'S withdrawal, it is thought that most of his strength will go to RICE, or wherever it can be massed to secure the defeat of ADAMS. It is quite possible that some man whose name has not yet been prominently mentioned will be accepted as a compromise candidate. But there is no such man among the Massachusetts Republican leaders who is at once available and strong. Judge DEVENS would not leave the bench for the office. BARTLETT has been taken up by the Democrats. The list is not long.

The movement in favor of Mr. ADAMS is new; it is so recent that its strength can hardly be calculated. It may turn out to be overwhelming, and it is possible that it is only a passing sentiment. Naturally, this incident worries the professional politicians not a little. They declare that Mr. ADAMS is not a Republican in the strict party sense, and that he is as cold and impassive as Mr. RICE is charged with being. But nobody denies that his administration of any office would be able, and dignified. We have no hint that he would accept the nomination; but his friends insist that his election to, and acceptance of, the Governorship would make him a prominent candidate for the Presidency next year. The contest in Massachusetts, as it lies before us to-day, is certainly an interesting one. The Democrats have lost their leaders. They have been forced to seize upon old-time Republicans to carry their banners. Their platform, with the exception of a few trite phrases, is Republican. Nothing but questions of a purely personal character divide the two parties. Both are agreed upon local issues; both support the conservative side of the only national issue—the currency question. The Republicans have allowed themselves to be divided into personal factions. Butlerism has demoralized the politics of the State. The bitterness with which the Massachusetts Republicans have lately contested the claims of rival candidates is a legitimate result of the fierce campaigns which BUTLER made when he attempted to dragoon the party into making him Governor. Democrats and Republicans now emulate each other in the nomination of the best men. The result of the deliberations at Worcester to-day should reflect honor upon the party which has given the Bay State some of her noblest statesmen.

THE TOURIST RETURNED FROM EUROPE.

The return tide of European travel has begun to set in. Between the present time and the end of November, great numbers of tourists who went abroad in the Spring and early Summer will have come home. Among these travelers will undoubtedly be many specimens of a class of individuals who, on the strength of their having spent a few months on the other side of the ocean, are fully convinced that they know all about Europe, and are disposed to take it for granted that no one who has never been abroad can possibly possess any information whatever respecting Transatlantic countries.

There is, in regard to almost every subject, a certain degree of knowledge which is peculiarly conducive to self-conceit. A college student, for instance, who has learned the quantum of natural science that is usually taught in such institutions, is apt to have a much more satisfied feeling in regard to his attainments in this respect than the man in advanced life who has made scientific study his principal employment. A young lawyer who has been but a few months at the bar is generally a good deal more confident in giving his opinion on controverted legal points than an experienced jurist. A young doctor who has recently received his diploma is commonly much more positive in the diagnosis of a difficult case than a physician of thirty years' practice. In these and similar instances, the cause of the feeling manifested is simply that the individual has not learned enough to find out how little he knows. So with a certain class of returned tourists. They have learned enough about Europe to be very conscious of how much they know, but not enough to be at all aware of how much remains to be known.

It is often a great annoyance to meet a man of this kind in company. If anything is said about Europe, (and he is pretty sure to see to it that something is said,) he is at once in his glory. Woe betide the unlucky individual that ventures to intimate an opinion contrary to his own in regard to anything between the Arctic Ocean and the Mediterranean. If, indeed, the opposing party has been in Europe himself, he has some chance in the contest. But let the unhappy wight whose travels have been confined to the Western Continent beware how he ventures upon such an act of presumption. He will, we warrant him, be careful how he does it a second time. No matter how much he may have read and studied on the given subject, or how little opportunity the traveler may have had for learning from observation anything about it, the latter has been there, and that settles the point.

It would be absurd to deny that every man of ordinary mental capacity and tolerably good eyesight, who has been in Europe, has a certain kind of knowledge in reference to the countries he has visited which people that have never seen them cannot possibly possess. But on the other hand, there are many things in every country which a person can learn no more about by merely passing through it than he could tell in regard to the amount of money in the vaults of a bank by riding past the building in an omnibus. And yet upon these things there are many returned travelers who seem to imagine that their opinion is to be decisive. Let any one, for instance, make a remark on French or German political affairs at variance with their ideas, and endeavor to support it by facts and argument. He will very soon be reminded that his opponent has been in Paris or Berlin, and knows all about everything connected with the Government; and the confidence of the latter in his own opinion will be all the greater the shorter the time he spent within the national jurisdiction in question and the less he is acquainted with the language.

It is generally pleasant for any one who is conscious of having enjoyed but small opportunities of acquiring knowledge, to have persons who are superior to him in this respect avoid reminding him of his disadvantages. Upon this principle, it is usually agreeable to the feelings of a luckless specimen of humanity who has never had the time and money to spare for a Transatlantic tour to have it taken for granted, in conversation, that he is aware of the circumstance that VICTORIA is Queen of England, and that Vienna is the capital of Austria. Of course, this assumption would be purely fictitious; for it is evident that a man who has never crossed the ocean could not possibly know anything about these matters. But good manners require that he should not be unnecessarily reminded of this deficiency. No doubt some tact would be needed to avoid hurting his feelings in this way; but people who go to Europe are expected to acquire, when abroad, a degree of proficiency in the usages of polished society which ought to remedy this difficulty.

AN ANNULAR ECLIPSE.

Some time since attention was called to the singularly unattractive character of the astronomical amusements which are promised by scientific men for the next twenty-five years. The lack of total eclipses of the sun, visible in communities which have reached the smoked-glass stage of civilization, was mentioned as one of the features of the astronomical programme which was especially to be deplored. Some half a dozen total eclipses were announced, but they were to be visible only to Central Africans and other barbarians who have advanced but little if any beyond the stone age. What can a Central African who has never heard of smoked glass do with a total eclipse? Obviously nothing No observations of any moment can be made with smoked hoes, or smoked ivory, and if the Central Africans think they can find out any new facts about the chromosphere with such instruments they are the most deluded of scientific heathen.

The astronomical programme for the next quarter of a century did, however, announce an annular eclipse for the 29th of September, which was represented not only as being visible in New-York, but also as a particularly choice and interesting variety of eclipse. This much-vaunted eclipse occurred punctually this morning, but until the beginning of the week it was carefully kept from us that it was to take place at early sunrise. Now, every one knows that sunrise is no sort of hour for an eclipse. It simply tempts the scientific small boy to take smoked glass to bed with him on the previous night, in order to have it handy in the morning, a proceeding which not only exasperates the tidy housewife, but which usually results in drawing midnight howls from small boys who have accidentally applied the smoked glass to portions of their physical frame which are not designed to be used in making astronomical observations. Aside, however, from the untimely hour at which this morning's eclipse occurred, it proved to be a greatly overrated affair. It was simply a bare eclipse, ungarnished by any incidental attractions whatever. Not an inch of chromosphere was visible. Not a particle of corona was to be seen, even through the thickest of plate glass. There was a conspicuous absence of the whole series of extraordinary phenomena which a scientific man is always certain to see during an eclipse, if he is only sent at Government expense to some South Sea island where there is nobody to watch the way in which his astonishing solar photographs are really taken. There was something said by one or two scientific persons as to a probable display of "BAILEY'S beads." Whoever had those beads in his possession—if, indeed, they have any existence—was careful to keep them locked up. Not a bead belonging to BAILEY—whoever he may be—or to anybody else, was seen through any piece of smoked glass in this City this morning; and those lovers of science who broke their cellar windows last night to obtain smoked glass wherewith to see the chromospheres, coronas, and BAILEY'S beads, had nothing but their trouble to show for their panes.

Scientific persons may think that this is the proper way in which to encourage popular interest in astronomy. If so they are greatly mistaken. People do not want to be dragged out of their beds at sunrise, even for an eclipse of the very first quality. Much less can they be induced to get up at that abnormal hour to look at a mere annular eclipse. There must have been hundreds of breakfast-tables this morning at which small boys with smoked noses were permitted by parents who shared their indignation to denounce science as an imposture and scientific persons as men who cheated innocent youth out of wholesome sleep upon false pretenses. If this spirit is permitted to grow, the time will come when astronomers will be hooted at by revengeful children in the public streets. What they sow they must expect to reap, and if they are wise they will offer no more annular eclipses at early sunrise.

THE MOHAWK'S CHALLENGE.

MR. BENNETT CHEERFULLY MEETS COMMODORE GARNER'S TERMS.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

Permit me the liberty once more to trespass upon your columns in reply to Commodore Garner's letter of Sept. 28, in which he says: "I beg to call your attention to the fact that in both of Mr. Bennett's letters to THE TIMES, in which he states that he is willing to accept my challenge, it is made a condition of his acceptance that the race shall be sailed in accordance with the rules of the New-York Yacht Club. As one of those rules requires that the Dauntless shall be allowed time by the Mohawk, and as the challenge in no wise offers such a condition, it cannot be considered that it has been accepted." Commodore Garner then repeats his challenge, and says: "The race proposed is boat against boat, and is not intended as a handicap race or a regatta, but is intended to bring forward the boat that will prove the inferiority of the Mohawk in a seaway." As Mr. Garner is an officer of the yacht club and I an ex-officer, I thought it best to accept his challenge to sail him in accordance with the old and well-established rules of the club. The allowance of time which the rules would require the Mohawk to give the Dauntless I cheerfully waive, and it will afford me pleasure to meet him on Tuesday, the 26th day of October, "boat against boat," in order to test the superiority or inferiority of the Mohawk in seaway, the yacht club rules—save the allowance of time—to govern the race.

JAMES GORDON BENNETT.

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 28, 1875.

MR. BENNETT ALSO ACCEPTS RUFUS HATCH'S CHALLENGE TO SAIL THE RESOLUTE, AND NAMES SATURDAY, OCT. 30.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

I find myself once more trespassing upon your columns, but as I have this moment read Mr. Hatch's challenge, I find it too tempting a race to hesitate, and consequently I promptly accept with this explanation. Mr. Hatch names these conditions in his challenge, namely:

"Sails.—Each boat may carry regular working sails, consisting of mainsail, maintopsail, foresail, foretopsail, and jibs, but not clubtopsail, balloon jib, or maintopmast staysail.

Trim.—Boats to remain ballasted as to-day. Chains to remain in the lockers. Anchors on the bow. Guns in their places. Boats on the davits, swung in if desired."

In my opinion these matters are governed by the rules of the New-York Yacht Club. As regards the suggestion, "guns in their places," I think we may safely waive that, as it is not probable we shall be on an enemy's coast during the race.

I will elect to sail the Dauntless against the Resolute from Sandy Hook Light-ship to Cape May Five-fathom Light-ship and return. Mr. Hatch says in his challenge that, failing to make this race in thirty hours, it is to be repeated daily until that time be made. This idea, if carried out, might prove too much of a good thing, and possibly might keep the Dauntless and Resolute sailing till Christmas; and consequently I wish it to be understood that the race will be from Sandy Hook Light-ship to Cape May Five-fathom Light-ship and return; the first yacht passing Sandy Hook Light-ship on the return wins, irrespective of time, whether it takes thirty or forty hours. I accept the Regatta Committee as judges, and name Saturday, the 30th of October, as the day for the race.

Mr. Hatch concludes his challenge by saying "the sail to be for a dinner given at the Club-house, Staten Island, on the return of the boats, number of plates to be agreed upon." Now, as Mr. Hatch does not state in his challenge the number of plates to be agreed upon for a dinner at the Club-house, Staten Island, on the return of the boats, and, as I would feel a delicacy, should fortune favor me, in suggesting the number of plates, I propose that the race be for a cup of the same value as that to be contended for in the coming Mohawk-Dauntless match.

And, to quote Commodore Garner's happy expression, let our race be "boat against boat," regardless of time allowance.

Hoping this may meet with Mr. Hatch's approval, I remain your obedient and obliged servant, JAMES GORDON BENNETT.

NEWPORT, R. I., Tuesday, Sept. 28, 1875.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

THE FIRST SENATORIAL DISTRICT.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

It cannot be expected that any one person should keep the exact run of local politics, and so it is not surprising that in your sketch of the different Senatorial Districts the condition of the First should not be precisely accurately represented.

The First District, on a straight party vote, is largely Democratic. The majorities for several years were as follows: 1867, 3,967; 1868, 2,452; 1869, 2,523 and 1870, 2,910. Last year it was 2,095.

In 1872 the Greeley nomination demoralized the Democratic vote, the leading party organ opposing his election to the last; and two years ago the whole strength of that party was temporarily destroyed in Queens County by some most extraordinary and improper nominations, so that they serve as no criterions. Taken on a square vote, with equally good candidates and a full poll, the district is about two thousand five hundred Democratic. Still, it is not at all improbable that we may carry it. Party lines are loose, and the character of candidates makes more difference in these counties, where heavy taxation has made the people careful, than in more remote sections. The First District of Queens has for five years elected a Republican on these grounds. Richmond County has twice done likewise. The Second of Queens once came within 100 votes of it.

REPUBLICAN.

REFORMER LITTLEJOHN.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

Politics has given to the public nothing more phenomenal of late than the advent of Mr. De Witt C. Littlejohn in the character of a reformer. This acrobatic individual is not unknown to the people of this State, nor will anyone be startled by the incongruity of the part he may take it into his head to appear in, but the grotesqueness of his present rôle in spite of all effort at repression will provoke sundry smiles among those who recall prominent episodes in his previous career. In the language of the immortal bard, it may be said of Littlejohn that, "in his time he plays many parts," and we venture the assertion that no more versatile genius has, in these latter days, made suppliant bows for favor. We have had glimpses of him in former times as the advocate of State aid for visionary schemes of internal improvement, none of which, so far as we can learn, have ever been brought to a successful termination; and we have seen him also in legislative bodies, ever conspicuous and irrepressible, but never practical or effective; at another time we caught sight of him as the doughty Colonel of the One Hundred and Tenth Regiment of New-York Volunteers, with whom he marched to the field of battle, but prudently retired therefrom a year or more in advance of the men who, under the inspiration of his windy oratory, confidingly marched there with him.

Littlejohn's next essay was in railroad building, the notorious but unfortunate Midland with its endless train of woes and complications being one of his magnificent creations, and, since his schemes have all come to grief, and are unavailable for his further vaulting aspirations, he vigorously mounts the platform and proclaims his desire for more honest government and purer politics.

If anything can be funnier than this we should be glad to know what it is; but if it is not intended for fun, and there is danger of Littlejohn's utterances being swallowed by credulous persons, we respectfully suggest to such that a reference to his record as a legislator may aid in forming an intelligent opinion of his reformatory tendencies. If we do not greatly err, it will be found that during the last of his service as a member of the New-York Assembly there was no more energetic supporter of the infamous Tweed Legislature, nor was there anyone more given to log-rolling pet measures through that body than this self-same Littlejohn; and yet he comes forward now as the most ardent of all the ardent reformers who put in an appearance at the Syracuse convention. With such lusty helpers to aid him, we will risk the opinion that our reform Governor need not be apprehensive of failure in the work he has undertaken; but it may not be amiss to inquire if there are not more Littlejohns who are willing to take hold, and so put the work of reformation beyond the possibility of miscarriage.

POLITICAL NOTES.

The Charter election in Newark, N. J., will be held on Tuesday, Oct. 12.

The Republicans of Tioga County have nominated Eugene B. Gere for Assembly.

State Senator Abijah J. Wellman, of the Thirtieth District of this State, has been unanimously renominated.

Heman Glass was nominated yesterday for the Assembly by the Republicans of the Third District of Monroe County.

Gen. Ewing's telegram read: "If for any reason Cary cannot accept Woodford's challenge, I carry a free lance and am ready."

Gen. Butler authorizes the denial of the statement that he will attend the Massachusetts Republican State Convention, and says that he has not proposed to go there.

The Philadelphia North American reminds Gov. Tilden that "With all his wisdom he has yet to learn that a candinate for the Presidency can easily enough talk his head off."

Ex-Gov. Vance, of North Carolina, has declined invitations from the Democratic managers to take the stump in Ohio and Mississippi, because the courts are in session in his State.

The Republican nominees for Assembly in Niagara County, are James F. Fitts and Jonas W. Brown. For School Commissioners, Merritt B. Fuller and Norman P. Browning.

The Broome County Democratic Convention yesterday nominated R. A. Ford for the Assembly, John Burghardt, Jr., for Sheriff, and L. S. Abbott for Treasurer, and passed resolutions favoring a contraction of the currency.

Hon. Scott Wike, Republican Congressman from Illinois, says in a recent letter that he continues to be unalterably opposed to inflation, and in favor of a gold and silver basis for whatever currency may be adopted or in use.

A member of the Texas Constitutional Convention has presented a resolution declaring that woman should have all the political rights that man has, and that she is man's equal in every respect, Paul to the contrary notwithstanding.

The Cincinnati Enquirer essays the rôle of a prophet, saying: "When Ohio elects William Allen, the honest people of New-York State who have been swindled by both political organizations will revolt and put a ticket in nomination on a greenback anti-specie resumption platform."

The Republicans of Wyoming County have made their nominations, as follows: For Member of Assembly, Arthur Clark; Sheriff, Albert Gage; Superintendent of the Poor, I. G. Hammond; Justice of Sessions, J. E. Blackmar; School Commissioners, E. J. Quigly, and E. S. Smith; Coroners, H. B. Merville and Daniel Ball.

The Columbus (Ohio) State Journal denies that there has ever been the slightest faltering along the Ohio Republican line, on the finance question, during this canvass, and says: "The array has been as squarely made as between opposing armies—honest currency on one side, and inflation without limit on the other. The people understand it, if the newspapers don't."

With a praiseworthy determination to do what he can to secure harmony, Gen. Alexander Warner has withdrawn as the Republican candidate for Congress in the Fourth District of Mississippi, as some dissatisfaction exists touching the organization of the convention that nominated him. Judge Jason Niles has announced himself as a candidate, and the Jackson Times warmly commends him to the Republican voters.

AMUSEMENTS.

THE TITIENS CONCERT.

The sale of seats for single concerts of the Titiens series commences this morning. For the first concert Mme. Titiens is to sing the grand air from "Der Freyschütz"—with the German text—Handel's "With Verdure Clad," and Arditi's waltz, "L'Ardita."

HERR WACHTEL'S REPRESENTATIONS.

Herr Wachtel and the principal artists of the company to sing with him at the Academy of Music, arrived from Europe yesterday. The popular tenor, who appears to be in robust health, will be complimented by a serenade at the Belvidere Hotel, to-night.

NEW-YORK FAIRS.

THE STATE FAIR AT ELMIRA.

ELMIRA, N. Y., Sept. 28.—The attendance at the State Fair was not very large to-day, the weather not being the best. The receipts were only $1,100, but the promise for great crowds to-morrow and the next day is very flattering. The exhibition is acknowledged by all who look it over to be the best one, in all respects, ever held here, and equal to any ever held in other parts of the State. One of the premiums offered, that for the best exhibition of farm produce, is attracting a great deal of attention, as it is something novel in a fair way. The fruit and flower tent is all prepared for exhibition, and presents an appearance attractive to all. There are 360 entries of horses, and some of the most noted in the country are present. Exhibitors are here from Rhode Island, Vermont, Ohio, Massachusetts, and a large number from Pennsylvania. In sheep, the largest display is made of breeds noted for length of staple and fineness of wool. One man from the eastern part of the State has sixty entries of the latter kind.

Of swine, some fine Berkshires are shown and a number of them. A number of Holstein cattle are shown. This is one of the most attractive features of the fair. In Mechanics' Hall there is a great variety on exhibition. The Superintendent has hardly room enough for his exhibitors, and the space is much crowded, notwithstanding it is a very large building. It is a regular museum in itself, and drains every section of the State for its supply. It is the general opinion that this alone would make the fair a success. The officers of the society express themselves as entirely satisfied with the appearance of things thus far.

THE CENTRAL NEW-YORK FAIR AT UTICA.

UTICA, N. Y., Sept. 28.—The Central New-York Fair opens with an unparalleled promise. All the entries are now on the ground, and they are classified as follows: Cattle, 579; sheep, 122; swine, 87; horses, 412; poultry, 636; dairy, 549; vegetables, 1,063; farm and garden products, 857; mechanical department, 1,148; stove department, 274; household department, 1,765; art department, 212; miscellaneous and extra, 1,024; making a grand total of 8,500 entries, or more than double the number at the State Fair. The display of cattle is remarkably large, and the entries are of the finest quality. The agricultural implements are very numerous, and the most prominent manufacturers in the country are represented. The rich dairy region of the Mohawk Valley has sent its best products, and the horse and poultry displays are the best ever seen at a fair. Mechanical implements and stoves occupy a large area of territory, and the floral, vegetable, and domestic departments cannot be equaled. The attendance to-day was quite large. Gov. Tilden will reach Utica at noon on Thursday, and attend the fair in the afternoon.

THE NEW-JERSEY CONSTITUTION.

TRENTON, N. J., Sept. 28.—The Board of State Canvassers met yesterday to count the votes in the State, for and against the constitutional amendments. The whole number of votes cast was 96,552. There were twenty-eight amendments in all, and each received a majority of over forty thousand, except the twelfth amendment, which repealed what is known as the "Five County act," and that was carried by 6,734 majority. Every county gave a majority for all the amendments except Essex, Hudson, Union, and Passaic, which gave a majority for all except the twelfth amendment. The Catholic opposition to the school clause did not amount to more than two thousand votes.

LABORERS' TROUBLES.

THE MINING CONSPIRATORS.

OPENING OF THE TRIAL OF SINEY AND PARKS AT CLEARFIELD, PENN.—REVIEW OF THE MINING TROUBLES.

CLEARFIELD, Penn., Sept. 28.—The trial of Siney and Parks, the principal officers of the Miners' National Association, was begun this morning. The indictment in the case is the one passed upon by the Grand Jury at the June Sessions, when some thirty persons, associated with Messrs. Siney and Parks, were tried and convicted, an exception being made of the two latter on account of their inability at that time to be represented by counsel. Their bail was increased from $500 to $5,000 and their case continued till the present term.

In opening the case, District Attorney Frank Fielding stated that the mining operations of the county were confined to one corner, in which were usually employed from twelve to fifteen hundred men. During last Fall and Winter the miners were getting fifty cents per ton for mining, and though the wages were not as good as they had been getting, yet at this rate an industrious man could gain a fair compensation. About March 23 last, Xingo Parks appeared in the neighborhood and remained from that time. Shortly after his arrival, and at his instance, a proposition to strike was agitated, and miners' meetings were held at different mines and the proposition discussed, Parks urging the men that they were not receiving a fair compensation for their labor, but that no strike should take place until they were thoroughly organized. On March 24 and 25, meetings took place at Houtzdale, and Moshannon mines; meetings after this time were held more secretly. On April 1 a union was formed at Moshannon, Parks being present and making a speech, in which he urged the miners to unite in a general strike throughout the region. On April 8 meetings were held at all the collieries in the region, and delegates were chosen to a general meeting at Houtzdale, at which a strike was agreed upon. On Monday, April 12, a general suspension of work took place throughout the region, a few of the men only remaining at the works in some of the mines. Notice was served upon some of the operators that an increase of ten cents per ton for mining should be paid, and outside labor proportionately.

From this time until about April 27 the operators were almost totally powerless to take out coal, and, in order to fill their contracts, were obliged to purchase coal at Cumberland, Md., and other places, at a loss of from fifteen to thirty cents per ton. They undertook to supply the places of the strikers, and on the 27th April a number of men were brought into the region by Fisher Bros. On their arrival at Osceola these men were met by about two hundred striking miners, with Parks at their head, who denounced the new comers as "blacklegs," and threatened that they would be in danger if they went to work, Parks and the others telling them that their scalps would not be secure. Of the twenty-nine men brought by Fisher Bros., the strikers succeeded, by persuasion, threats, and intimidation, in taking away all but nine. In this and many similar instances the strikers offered to pay, and did pay, the fares of the new comers back to the localities from which they had come. The efforts made by the operators to bring in men from other places were repeated frequently, but these, in almost all instances, resulted in the taking away of the men by the strikers, Parks and many others of the latter being constantly engaged in traveling upon the cars to Tyrone and back, and in boarding trains, for the purpose of intercepting the new hands, and by persuasion, threats, and intimidation preventing them from coming into the region. Many of the latter were fully aware of the situation, and expressed their willingness to work for the wages offered but through the efforts of the strikers, very few of them reached the mines and went to work.

About May 5 threatening letters were sent to every man in the region who continued to work, notifying them that this was the last notice they would receive, and that if they did not comply with the request and cease to work their lives would be taken, and they would not live to witness against their assailants. Matters continued in this way until May 10, when a special train from Philadelphia arrived, bringing 190 men, of whom sixty were Italians. The train went up the road to Sterling, where part of the men were unloaded, and then on to Houtzdale, where the balance got off. In the meantime a crowd of seven or eight hundred miners followed up the strangers, and finally gathered around them and marched them back to Osceola. There they obtained a special train and by force of numbers and threats forced the "blacklegs," as they are termed, to go back to Tyrone, where they were dropped, and no further transportation being given them, they lay there in a destitute and helpless state for two weeks. On this day Siney arrived in the region. On the 11th, during a meeting of the striking miners at Houtzdale, and while Siney was making a speech, it was announced that a train was coming up the road loaded with "blacklegs." The crowd dispersed at once to meet the train, Siney accompanying them. Arriving at Goss Run Mines shortly after the arrival of the train, they were met by the operators and special policemen, who forbid them to enter upon the works. A miner being sent by the strikers to confer with the newly-arrived men, returned and reported that the latter would not leave. Another committee for the same purpose met with better success. The strikers then withdrew a short distance, evidently for consultation. In a short time they rushed forward brandishing clubs, revolvers, &c., and the small force of policemen giving way they continued on to the mines, entered them, and compelled the few who were at work to come out, and then entered the boarding-houses and threw the baggage of these men out of the windows, and finally, surrounding the strangers, marched them to Houtzdale, crowded them in a hall, guarded them for a time, and then marched them out of the county, meanwhile notifying them that if any dropped out of the line he would be shot. After taking them some thirty miles away he left them, with the statement that any who came back would be sent away in pine boxes. Gradually the strikers compelled all the men at work to quit the mines. The principal participators in these outrages were subsequently arrested, Siney and Parks among the number, and true bills found against all. Upon the application of the latter two their cases were continued on the ground of the absence of their counsel and of important witnesses who could not be present. A trial resulted in the conviction of the others, of whom six were sentenced to terms of one year's imprisonment, and thirteen to sixty days, the sentence of thirteen others being suspended.

A large number of witnesses were then examined, the substance of their testimony being that a general strike for an advance of ten cents per ton occurred about April 12, in pursuance of a resolution of the District Union meeting held April 8; that on the 11th, at a disturbance at Goss Run, when the new comers to supply the places of the strikers were prevented by the latter from going to work, and forcibly driven away, Siney was along with the crowd and had previously made a speech to them. The new-comers, under a strong guard of strikers, were marched to Houtzdale, and thence sent by railroad out of the county, a distance of more than twenty miles. Xingo Parks was shown to have ordered the march out of the county. On May 10 a train of 197 new miners from Philadelphia and Harrisburg, forty of whom were Italians, was run without stopping direct to the collieries, and the men debarked there, but all of them, either by persuasion or force, were prevented from going to work. Parks and his associates were proved to have been frequently upon trains between Tyrone and the mines, preventing by persuasion and promise miners anxious to work for fifty cents a ton from going to the mines. The fact came out incidentally that Siney, on the part of the national organization, had not countenanced the strike, but regarded it as an illegal one under the constitution of the association.

THE FALL RIVER RIOTERS.

PRESENT ATTITUDE OF THE SPINNERS' ASSOCIATION.

FALL RIVER, Mass., Sept. 28.—At a special general meeting of the Spinners' Association, held yesterday, resolutions were passed unanimously, as follows:

Resolved, That a petition be sent through the city to solicit the tradesmen and others in favor of the withdrawal of the conditions proposed by the employers, and a petition, if necessary, be sent to the State authorities for aid; that it be understood that we wish to act in no selfish spirit toward our employers, for the following will put an end to all petty strikes: That we are willing to give and take ten days' notice in all questions of wages and labor, or otherwise we forfeit all pay belonging to us then due, and we expect the same from them for instant dismissal.

The three Commissioners are now in session for the purpose of districting the city, and sending out canvassers to obtain signatures as above stated. Everything is remarkably quiet around the mills and on the streets. There was no interference with the help this morning while going to work.

Richard Borden is running 500 looms. The spinning department is full, and the other departments are well represented.

The Fall River Manufacturing Company is running about half its force in each department. The linen mill, the Metacomet, Crescent, Wetamoe, and others which were running yesterday, have an increased number of operatives to-day, and operatives continue to come forward and signify a willingness to sign and go to work.

The Wampanoag, Flint, Two Granites, Merchants, and others, are still idle. Not a sufficient number of operatives have yet put in an appearance to warrant starting.

A small Police force is on duty around the mills while the help is going to and returning from work. The Militia are quartered this morning at Armory Hall and other points.

There seems to be not much probability that the petitions of the operatives will meet with very great approval by the more prominent tradesmen, but the result is looked for with anxiety by the operatives.

THE CITY QUIET—EFFECT OF THE VIGOROUS MEASURES OF THE AUTHORITIES—THE LEADERS STILL HOLDING OUT.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

FALL RIVER, Mass., Sept. 28.—The excitement is over, at least for the present. The prompt action of the city authorities in calling out the Militia and utilizing the Police force showed the evil-disposed that vigorous measures would be used, and it had the desired effect. The streets to-night are as quiet, if not more quiet, than usual, and people talk of the late unpleasantness as a foolish chimerical venture, which had a signal failure. Still the smoldering fire may break forth again, for the leaders are not apt to lose all hold on the operatives without a struggle, and they will try to restrain them from going to work until some concession at least comes from the other side. This, it is thought, will not come, and a glance at the number of looms running to-day will show that the manufacturers have gained a decided victory. To-morrow there will be a still larger number of operatives who will try to secure their places, for the chance will not long remain open to them, as others are waiting for an opportunity to step in.

The resolutions passed by the spinners to-day show that they only hold on to the opposition by a thread. They will send through the city a petition for the rescinding of the obnoxious requirements, but if it does not come they will go to work, not as a body, but individually, for they cannot long hold back owing to a lack of funds and food.

The trial of the rioters to-day developed nothing, and the municipal authorities showed a disposition to let well enough alone. So it is probable they will be discharged as there is not much evidence against them, and the amount of injury done does not warrant any punishment. While the excitement does not run nearly as high as yesterday, it has by no means subsided, and were the militia to be withdrawn it would be impossible to prevent what would follow. Knots of men gather at the street corners and talk over the "situation," sometimes in quite strong and heated terms. The conduct of the female operatives since the strike has been disgusting; yesterday they were even more violent than the men, and to-day the language used by them on the streets is coarse and vulgar to indecency. Many of the militia have become disgusted with life at Fall River, and with no prospect of returning home for a week at least, it is not strange that they complain.

THE RIOTOUS OPERATIVES IN COURT—APPEALS FOR AID FROM ABROAD.

FALL RIVER, Mass., Sept. 28.—Joseph and James Clifton, Martin and Bernard Burke, Michael McCabe, and Joseph Dobson, the operatives who were arrested yesterday for throwing stones and other riotous proceedings, were brought before Judge Blaisdell this forenoon. The evidence for the prosecution closed at 6 o'clock to-night, and the court adjourned to Saturday morning next. The parties were admitted to bail in $500 each. Aside from the Daval mill, where quite a crowd are gathered to-night, without any demonstration of violence, all remains quiet. The Militia is stationed to-night in different police-stations. The spinners have sent eight delegates abroad to solicit funds.

The following telegram was received here to-day:

NEW-YORK, Sept. 28.

Henry Sevey, or Mr. Bitcliffe:

The moral force you invoke has touched the hearts and quickened the judgment of your brothers here. Steps for a meeting are being taken in your behalf. Every blow which came upon your heads has awakened the recollections of Tompkins square.

JOSEPH A. TAYLOR,
C. OSBORNE WARD,
JAMES CONNELLY.

The manufacturers declare they are indifferent as to whether they start up or not, but will keep their mills open a few days to give the operatives a chance to show whether they desire to resume work. But they will not continue to run with a one-third force, which must entail much loss.

MEETING OF THE LABOR REFORMERS IN BOSTON.

BOSTON, Sept. 28.—A meeting of the Labor Reformers was held at the Sherman House this evening, to consider the condition of the Fall River operatives. Speeches of a highly inflammatory nature were made by the Chairman and others. Two sets of resolutions introduced — the one of a more pacific character than the other—provoked such heated discussion and opposition that they were withdrawn. One speaker was glad that windows had been broken. He had done something in that line, and would like to do more. He thought such outbreaks had a beneficial effect in arousing the public to the importance of the issue. Another thought Fall River in ashes preferable to concession. Another wished to go to Fall River and preach revolution. The meeting was continued until a late hour, with little change in the prevailing tone.

At a late hour the following resolutions were adopted:

Resolved, That the action of the Fall River manufacturers, in demanding humiliating and dishonorable conditions of their operatives, deserves and should receive the severest censure of all liberty-loving citizens.

Resolved, That Gov. William Gaston, in ordering the militia and State Police force to occupy and control the affairs of a municipality, and assist the lords of the loom in their attempt to enslave the working men, women, and children, while he has utterly neglected to enforce the ten-hour law, or the laws in relation to the employment and schooling of children, calls for our utmost protest and censure.

Resolved, That a system of labor that demands the aid of a standing army to secure the employment of the necessary number of work-people, is a scandal and reproach to our civilization.

The subject of the mass-meeting proposed to be held at Faneuil Hall was discussed without final action.

FATALLY INJURED BY THE FAST MAIL TRAIN.

PITTSBURG, Penn., Sept. 28.—The first accident on the Limited Mail train happened to the section which left this city at 6 o'clock last evening over the Pittsburg, Cincinnati and St. Louis Railroad. Edward McKinney, a passenger for Dayton, was thrown from the platform near Lock No. 17, Ohio, and fell under the wheels, the train passing over him, crushing the back part of his head and injuring him so that he cannot recover. He lay where he fell for five hours, when he was picked up by the express going east, the engineer of which heard his cry for help, and brought to his home in Steubenville.

THE PILGRIMAGE RIOTS IN TORONTO.

TORONTO, Sept. 28.—Michael Christie was, this forenoon, committed for trial on a charge of firing into a crowd on Sunday last during the Catholic procession. When arrested, a seven-shooter, with six chambers evidently just discharged, was found on his person. Bail was refused. Posters are out calling upon Orange young Britons to organize. Unless Archbishop Lynch be persuaded to forbid the pilgrimage next Sunday, serious consequences are apprehended.

THE CYCLONE IN THE GULF.

LATEST REPORTS FROM THE DEVASTATED REGION—AN EARNEST APPEAL FOR AID.

GALVESTON, Texas, Sept. 28.—Advices from Brazoria, dated Sept. 23, confirm the reports first received from Matagorda. That town was wholly washed away excepting four houses. No lives were lost, the people saving themselves by clinging to the cedar-trees in the vicinity.

At the town of Columbia twenty houses were blown down, but no lives are reported lost. One man was killed at Chenango by a falling tree.

Many plantations have been greatly damaged and some literally torn to pieces. Sugar-houses, gin-houses, fences, and everything, are partly or wholly blown down. The great losses cannot be correctly reported.

Later advices from Matagorda say, at a meeting of the citizens of Matagorda County held in the town of Matagorda, the following were appointed a committee to receive and distribute contributions to the suffering people: Galen Hodges, W. S. Stewart, and R. G. Cheesman. The committee report as follows:

We the committee, report to the country at large, that the greater part of the town of Matagorda is laid in ruins, and that not a single citizen of that sown has escaped serious injury to property. Many of them are entirely houseless and without the necessaries of life or the means to build a shelter over their heads. Our Court-house is somewhat damaged, but can be repaired without great expense. The Odd-fellows' Hall is a total loss. The Episcopal Church nearly so. All the shipping at this point has been either seriously damaged or entirely lost. No lives were lost in the town, but on Kinney's Prairie, as far as we were able to learn, twenty-one persons were lost and their property all destroyed. On the upper peninsula twenty-one persons were swept into the Gulf and drowned, and all their property entirely lost. We have, as yet, heard of no deaths on the lower peninsula, but houses and property are almost entirely destroyed. DeCrow's Point has not yet been heard from, nor the town of Palacios. We have not heard anything definite from Tres Palacios, yet, we hear of great destruction of property on the east side of the Colorado River, but of no lives lost. We have not heard from Carey, above Capt. Duncan's plantation, but are satisfied that from there to the South there has been an entire loss of crops, houses, cabins, gin and sugar houses, &c., and five lives lost as far as heard from.

We request the Galveston News, Houston, Austin, and San Antonio, and other Texas papers; also, those of New-York, Boston, Chicago, and St. Louis to publish these proceedings, and such other papers as feel an interest in the cause of suffering humanity. Such as may feel able and disposed to help our suffering people will send forward their contributions, money or provisions, to the committee above named, consisting of Messrs. Cheesman, Stewart, and Hodges.

(Signed,) G. Baar, John Duncan, Jr., John L. Croon, John Matthews, Galen Hodges, J. E. Pierce, D. E. S. Esbraman, R. G. Cheesman, C. H. Williams, Frederick C. McCamly, W. D. Barbour, John Moore, William H. Burchart, Chairman; G. Baar, Secretary.

BRASHEAR, Sept. 28.—The steamers Harris, from Brazos, and Mary, from Rockport, arrived this morning. They report no damage done by the storm at either port.

LATER DETAILS OF THE LOSS OF LIFE AND PROPERTY — THE EFFECTS OF THE STORM ON THE BRAZOS AND TRINITY RIVERS AND AT WALLISVILLE.

GALVESTON, Texas, Sept. 28.—The following additional particulars have been received from the mouth of the Brazos River: The number of persons known to have lost their lives between the Peninsula and San Bernard is fifty-seven, among whom are Mrs. Sargent and old Mr. Sargent; all of the Forester family; all of the Mitchells; Billy McNeil's wife and three children; Mrs. Egart and two children; seven of Stephen Winstead's family, himself and Susie, Annie, and Johnnie being saved; Samuel Reseless, wife and two children; all of old Mr. Davis' family, and one of the children of William Austin. Judge Cox and his family spent the night of Thursday in the trees. Some persons managed to save themselves at the mouth of the river. The people from the other side of the river got on Capt. Louis Devot's boat. Winnie Winstead's body was found on Hawkins' Prairie, old Mrs. Daniels' body at Joel Bryan's, and some of the bodies of the Davis family on Gulf Prairie and others at the mouth of the river. From one-half to two-thirds of the cattle and horses are drowned.

The bridge at Cedar Lake is gone, and the fences and trees are swept away. There is a man here who drifted two days and nights on a log.

Later information from Trinity River is to the effect that three schooners are high and dry in the fields near the fork of Dindle and White's Bayous. In the Trinity the water had swept over the cane twelve feet above the bank of the river, from its mouth to Wallisville, where the land is low and swampy. The first house above the mouth was owned by Dr. Phealan, and occupied by negroes. The house was entirely carried away; not a vestige of it is to be seen. Of the nine negroes occupying the house, eight were drowned. After remaining in the trees from ten to fifteen hours, one of them, becoming perfectly crazy, from fright tore the clothes from his mother in his efforts to climb a tree. The mother of the family, a woman of fifty or sixty years of age, was rescued on Sunday by a party passing down the river and taken to Wallisville.

At Wallisville the following losses are reperted:

Joseph Herring loses his dwelling, gin-house, and press.

Mr. Van Predellis' store, wharf, &c., and a new stock of groceries, just received before the storm, all lost. The Post Office was in his store, and all the mail matter on hand went with the store. His loss is about seven thousand dollars.

Mr. Wooten—Dwelling, store, and groceries; a total loss.

Frank Wallis—Residence lost.

Jacob Sherman—Dwelling, furniture, and outhouses lost. His cotton-gin was but slightly damaged.

The residence and furniture of John White were badly injured, and his out-houses were destroyed.

Mrs. Warren's residence was badly damaged.

The Lafore Hotel withstood the terrible rush of winds and water, but sustained considerable damage. The bedding and chests of clothing were damaged by water. The storehouse, with a full stock of groceries, was washed away. The stables and outhouses were very much damaged.

The wharf and ways are entirely washed away.

William Cooper, a colored man, is utterly ruined. He lost his dwelling and outhouses, and his sloop is high and dry on the bank.

Capt. Orin lost everything he possessed.

James Wilson's place was but slightly damaged.

Every house in the town is more or less damaged. It will take years to rebuild the place. From the present feeling of the people it is believed that many of them will emigrate.

Mr. Mayo, who resides half a mile above Wallisville, on Dorris Island, lost 1,500 head of cattle and fifty horses. His dwelling was only slightly injured.

Mr. Lawrence, who lives about two miles above Wallinsville, lost from 1,000 to 1,500 head of stock, among them forty head of horses. His residence was badly damaged.

The repairs on the bridge at Richmond are completed, and trains over the Galveston, Harrisburg and San Antonio road are now running regularly.

THE BANK OF CALIFORNIA.

THE GUARANTEE FUND NEARLY PAID IN—OTHER FINANCIAL MATTERS.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 28.—Payments on account of the assessment on the Syndicate fund of the Bank of California have been lively to-day, and a great portion of the amount is now in the vaults of the bank. The San Francisco Stock Board to-day authorized the payment of twenty per cent. of the subscription of $250,000. The bank will probably reopen on Saturday next, although no official action has as yet been taken to that effect.

The usual semi-monthly collections to-day showed prompt payments, and no suspensions are reported, although there is a rumor afloat that an extension has been granted to a heavy grain firm. The rumor, however, lacks confirmation.

The feeling in business circles generally is very cheerful and confident.

THE CAMPAIGN IN OHIO.

WORK TO BE DONE ON BOTH SIDES.

A FULL VOTE EXPECTED — THE CANVASS COMPARED WITH FORMER ONES—THE WESTERN RESERVE AROUSED — EASTERN DEMOCRATS SUPPLYING MONEY TO THE INFLATIONISTS—ALLEN AND CARY.

COLUMBUS, Saturday, Sept. 25, 1875.

Two weeks of the Ohio canvass yet remain before election. During that time the greatest activity will be displayed by both parties. The Democratic Committee publishes a list of appointments for 250 meetings, (or rather speeches, for in many instances two or three speakers are sent together to one place.) The Republican Committee has 200 speeches appointed, and there are omitted from the list numerous meetings arranged by local county and township committees. Both parties will make other appointments, and it is not impossible that in the next two weeks 700 or 800 political speeches may be made in this State. In some towns the people are already surfeited with speaking, so that none but the best and most prominent speakers can in those places secure audiences. Generally, however, the demand is in excess of the supply, and the committees are receiving numerous calls for meetings which they cannot find speakers to answer.

APPOINTMENTS FOR BOTH SIDES.

Among the Democratic appointments are eight speeches for Gov. Allen, seven for Pendleton, twelve for Cary, eleven for Tom Ewing, four for Lew Campbell, three for Thurman, eight for ex-Congressman Morgan, eight for ex Senator Tipton, two for Cassius M. Clay, six for Gov. Hendricks, seven for Dan Voorhees, and two for Heister Clymer. The rest of their speakers are possessed of local reputation only, being generally "smart" and "tonguey" local politicians and managers, speaking to their own neighbors. On the Republican side eleven meetings are announced for Gen. Hayes, eight for Gen. Woodford, seven for Carl Schurz, five for Senator Morton, two for Gen. Albright, eleven for Col. Grosvenor, of Missouri, five for Senator Sherman, thirteen for Burrows, of Michigan, four for Gen. Harry White, three for Senator Dawes, five for Judge Taft, three for Gen. Noyes, six for Gen. Garfield, one for ex-Gov. Pollock. Several of the Republican Congressmen likewise have appointments, mostly in their own districts. Congressman Hale, of Maine, will be here next Saturday and make several speeches.

COMPARISONS WITH FORMER CAMPAIGNS.

The meetings of both parties are well attended, for the most part, and the people manifest an interest that seems to promise a full vote. In some of the counties the local committees have taken affairs very sharply in hand, and meetings addressed by local speakers are held in the school-houses and at whatever places people can assemble. This is notably the case in some of the closely-contested counties. The people go back to the canvass of 1863, when Vallandigham was the Democratic candidate, to find a canvass with which to compare the present. There was the great meeting at Warren, in the Western Reserve, last Thursday, for instance. It is compared with a great meeting in 1868, another in 1863, and with still another in 1844—a Henry Clay meeting. All of these are remembered as the greatest political meetings ever held in the State. This Warren meeting is said to be the greatest, and the estimates, which are little better than guesses, range all the way from 15,000 to 25,000 as the number of people in attendance.

EFFECT OF LARGE DEMOCRATIC MEETINGS.

The Warren meeting, by the way, will have a great influence. The Allen and Pendleton meeting at the same place a month ago was the largest meeting in the canvass till recently, and it was a subject of much boasting and a cause of Democratic hope. But its effect was precisely what shrewd Republicans at the time predicted. It did more to arouse the Republican voters of the Western Reserve than a dozen Republican meetings would have done, and led to the determination to have a greater demonstration for Hayes. So far as such affairs affect what is termed "the floating vote," the Republicans now have the advantage.

MONEY.

Both parties are making a desperate struggle; both know that they are fighting the political battle of next year. I think the Democratic leaders outside of the State have a keener appreciation of this fact that have the outside Republicans, and while there has been apparent apathy among them, and the leading men, especially in the East, have not entered the canvass, because they did not want to commit themselves on the currency question, money in large sums has been contributed, even by the hard-money Democrats of New-York and Philadelphia. The Republicans have had better speakers, but less money, from without the State. I don't believe either committee has any money to spare for other than the most necessary and legitimate expenses of the canvass. The Democrats have made a great ado about certain invitations sent out by the committee at Washington to United States office-holders, requesting political contributions. The amount received in Ohio from that source, I happen to know, has been ridiculously exaggerated; but without entering upon any discussion of the remarkable diplomacy of the Washington committee, or the ethics of political assessments, it may be confidently stated that the Democracy orders those affairs better. Here in Ohio, I am credibly informed, when the managers think assessments should be collected, the monthly pay-rolls are sent round to be receipted in full, and the employes are, in fact, paid only in part. A State Prison employe, for example, whose monthly pay is $65, receipts in full for that sum, but is paid only $60. There is no invitation, no noise, and no public scandal. The collection is sure, and prompt, and silent. This is the kind of treatment United States office-holders may expect should the "Farmer," the "Peer of Jackson" have a chance to institute his vaunted reforms in national administration. This and many similar facts illustrate the hopelessness of any administrative reforms under a Democratic domination.

CARL SCHURZ.

The coming week will be marked by the entrance into the canvass of Carl Schurz. The Democrats are afraid of him, and are trying, in advance of his coming, to discount, as the saying is, the effects of his speeches. Hundreds of applications for Schurz have been sent to the committee, but he can only have time to visit the more important centres of German population. At all the places where he is announced the Germans are making preparations to give him great public receptions. The Cincinnati Enquirer, which, since the nomination of St. Geghan, has shown a dimmed light, has made some feeble attacks upon Schurz, displaying more temper than ability. This course inspires his partisans with new zeal, and will increase the interest in his speeches.

THE PROSPECTS.

In the contest, the Democrats are more demonstrative, more confident, more spirited. From Gov. Allen down they profess to be absolutely certain of success. The Republicans are not doubtful, nor wavering. The most quiet, careful men I have found to be most positive in their confidence. The work of the Republicans is more quietly done. It must be confessed that the apparent enthusiasm with which the Democrats rush about the State has some influence. But they made a mistake in raising their war cry in the strong Republican counties. It is the opinion of the leading Republicans that great progress has been made in the last two weeks, and Thompson, the Democratic Chairman, is credited with the remark that if the election were held now he was sure of Allen's victory, but would not promise what the result might be two weeks hence.

THE ANTEDILUVIAN CANDIDATE.

Allen and Cary are to spend Sunday here. I saw the old Governor to-night. He has endured the wear of the campaign wonderfully, and will, no doubt, go through to the end. Yet one can see that it must require a great deal of will to keep his trembling body up to the work the committee have laid upon it. Senator Boutwell, whose jokes are few and always very serious, referring to the talk about Allen's feebleness and age, remarked he was just as good for Governor now as he ever was. He claims to be sixty-nine years old, but seeing him beside a man at Warren who owned to eighty-three, one could not believe that story.

CARY'S FRAUDS.

Cary has been a terribly active and aggressive demagogue, and it seems to agree with him. He does not show any signs of fatigue, but he has been having a hard time of it. He has been attacking the bondholder. It came out in Cincinnati that he sold a house to the Government for $25,500, and when asked for the taxes replied to the officers that for convenience he had put the money into Government bonds. Now he makes a denial that he ever owned any bonds. Then comes the answer that he made a false return to evade the taxes he ought to pay. So he must hopelessly settle on one horn of the dilemma. Then his silver-mine swindle has been exposed. The main facts are of record in court. Cary, it is alleged, went to Colorado, as the attorney of a company of gentlemen, to buy a certain silver mine. He agreed with the owners to pay $22,000, and took the usual bond. Then he telegraped to his clients that the price was $50,000, and to hurry along the money. He paid the $22,000 for the mine, divided the $28,000 among those with whom collusion was necessary, keeping the greater share himself. The case is in court, and the only public defense is an offer on his part to take back the mine at $50,000. The people of the State know pretty well what kind of a man Cary is, and he finds himself pretty hard pushed. The telegraph has already explained how the chip which Cary has carried on his shoulder so long, and so blusteringly, was knocked off by Gen. Woodford, and how Cary retorted it was not Woodford, but some other man with whom he wanted to have a discussion. The talk of Cary and his wretched gang of Communists produced a little of its legitimate fruit, in an assault, near Cuyahoga Falls, upon a train filled with Hayes clubs returning in the night from a political meeting. The assault was made on Friday night, and four or five men were struck by stones. It was strange that no one was killed. Cassius M. Clay had just been exhorting the Cuyahoga Democrats not to take up the bayonet just now, but to try first once more at the ballot-box to accomplish their purpose. Of course, the better class of Democrats disapproved the attack, but that it occurred in spite of them shows the tendency of Caryism, which is Communism of the most insidious and terrible character.

The issues are rapidly crystallizing. The currency question is resuming its prominence. For a time the school question was brought to the front. It is an important question; but national dishonor is nearer than any division of the school funds. This the people are coming to understand, and the currency question, for the time, absorbs all other issues.

GEN. WOODFORD AND GEN. EWING.

A JOINT DISCUSSION ARRANGED FOR THEM.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Sept. 28.—The joint discussions between Gen. Woodford and Gen. Ewing have been arranged. The first meeting will be at Shawnee, in Perry County, Thursday evening, the 30th inst., and the succeeding appointments are as follows: Lancaster, Oct. 1; Circleville, the 2d; Wilmington, the 4th; Gallion, the 5th; Upper Sandusky, the 7th; Tiffin, the 8th, and Mansfield the 9th.

The challenge came from Gen. Ewing, and Gen. Woodford accepted. Ewing's managers then demanded that he should have the privilege of deciding who should open the discussion. This point was finally settled by lot, Gen. Woodford waiving his right as the challenged party. The correspondence has attracted great interest, and the meetings will be a striking feature of the canvass.

Gen. Woodford opens and closes the debate at Shawnee. The notorious Lew. D. Campbell took the opportunity of the excitement to issue a challenge, through the Democratic Committee, to Senators Morton, Boutwell, and Dawes. The Republican Committee very promptly declined to ask either of those gentlemen to meet him, but they offered to open negotiations for a meeting with Senator Thurman, which proposition is declined.

SENATOR WALLACE ON THE CURRENCY.

CLEARFIELD, Penn., Sept. 28.—United States Senator Wallace, in his speech to-night, charged the condition of the country on Republican extravagance and mismanagement. The country could not resume in 1879, because no preparation has been made for it, and the condition must precede the statutes. The Erie platform does not mean the indefinite postponement of specie payments, but its whole thought is to ease an overtaxed people. We have paid over $3,879,000,000 since 1865—more than the whole debt of Great Britain. Give the people time to rest from this exhaustive labor. Economy in administration must open the door to resumption; and we ought to save the money paid to national banks on their bonds by exchanging bank currency for Government notes. The path of the Democracy is to save your money to pay your debts. The true money of a republic is hard money. We reach the latter through the former; but the people must have time to recuperate their exhausted energies. State finances and State issues occupied the most of his speech. In closing he invited the closest examination of his relations to every public trust, and challenged the most rigid scrutiny into every act of his official life.

O'BALDWIN STILL ALIVE.

NATURE OF HIS INJURIES—FINNELL STILL AT LIBERTY.

A reporter of THE TIMES called on Dr. William H. Shine at his office, No. 17 State street, yesterday morning, in order to ascertain the condition of the prize-fighter "Ned" O'Baldwin, better known as "the Irish Giant," who was shot on Monday night by his partner, Michael Finnell, at their liquor saloon, No. 45 West street. Dr. Shine, who had just returned from visiting O'Baldwin, stated that the wounded man had passed a very restless night, and that his pulse was slightly abnormal. He had administered hypodermic injections of morphine to induce sleep. The ball, which entered O'Baldwin's abdomen about an inch and a quarter to the right of the naval, has not, in Dr. Shine's opinion, penetrated the peritoneum, but has lodged in the group of muscles which center at the umbilicus. Dr. Shine arrived at this conclusion through the use of the probe, and by the almost total absence of symptoms of shock exhibited by the patient. The wound in the thorax is the most dangerous, and from the direction taken by the ball it is thought that it was probably lodged in the liver. The revolver used by Finnell, a large-sized Smith & Wesson, was handed to Capt. Saunders, of the Twenty-seventh Precinct, yesterday morning, by William Brophy, who was bar-tender in the saloon. It would appear that on being shot O'Baldwin grappled with Finnell and took the pistol away from him, and was about to fire on him when Brophy rushed in and wrenched the weapon from O'Baldwin's hand. A number of sporting men called yesterday at Mr. Cassidy's residence, corner of Greenwich and Carlisle streets, and were admitted to see the wounded pugilist. Capt. Saunders and a number of detectives are busily engaged searching for Finnell, who is well known to the Police, having been a river thief and a prominent member of the assemblage of roughs known as the Charlton and West street gang.

The condition of O'Baldwin at 12 o'clock last night was quite precarious. Dr. Shine and one other surgeon visited him about 11:30 o'clock, and after an examination pronounced his condition critical. He seemed much better yesterday afternoon, but in the evening began to sink rapidly. The surgeon declined to tell Mr. Cassidy's people whether O'Baldwin would live through the night or not.

EHRICH'S TEMPLE OF FASHION.

Although Ehrich's is situated in Eighth avenue, between Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth streets, the fashions are just as new and the callers quite as numerous as in Broadway establishments. For the second time within a few years this firm has been obliged to enlarge its premises, and now exhibits a large number of imported and home-made costumes in the new extension that are original in design and much admired by the ladies who visited them yesterday, and will doubtless give satisfaction to many more to-day. Among the costumes is an imported dress of London smoke silk. The skirt is laid in large reverse plaits all round, and three sashes of Scotch plaid silk, cut bias, are carried across the front in folds and fastened at the back, the upper one in a knot and the two lower ones in a half handkerchief loop, with ends near the top of the train flounce, which is trimmed with double puffs, finely shirred and finished with a heading. The basque is round, with a sailor collar of plaid at the back, and three folds of the silk forming a rouleau collar in front and finished with a bow of the plaid. The sleeves are of plain silk, with a cuff of plaits turned hither and thither, and finished with a plaid band, as is also the bottom of the basque. There were some beautiful cloaks of cloth, matelasse, silk, and fur, plain, embroidered, and braided, and lined with silk throughout, and at very reasonable prices. The bonnets were of all the leading shades in velvet and felt, and of the most unique design. One was made in plum velvet, with a slashed brim turned up at one side, full crown of velvet, a part of the velvet down the back in a cascade, with écru lace, white tips, and pink roses intermixed in graceful confusion. In furs, the Labrador sea otter, with white hairs intermixed, is the newest, while silver fox, blue fox, and seal-skin are in as much demand as ever, and seal does not disdain to take the shape of some new and pretty designs for ladies' hats. This firm have a large assortment of hats, untrimmed, as well as any quantity of plumes, feathers, flowers, and fixings to trim them with. A fine display of real laces is very attractive, as also silk handkerchiefs and neckerchiefs for gentlemen, and no end of new fancy ties for the ladies.

THE GUIBORD CASE IN COURT AGAIN.

MONTREAL, Sept. 28.—The Guibord case was again before the courts yesterday. The Roman Catholic authorities of the Montreal Diocese were required to show cause why they should not be condemned to pay $2,000 for the gates of the Catholic Cemetery being closed to the remains of Guibord. Messrs. Jette and Doutre argued the case before Mr. Justice Johnson, who has taken time to give his decision. The Fabrique has paid the costs awarded to L'Institut Canadien, amounting to over $6,000.

Later.—In the Guibord case to-day the Grand Jury found "no bill" against fifteen persons accused of participation in the cemetery riots.

THE BIBLE DISCARDED IN CHICAGO SCHOOLS.

CHICAGO, Sept. 28.—The Board of Education to-night, with but one dissenting vote, discarded the Bible from the public schools of this city.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

SURE TO REGULATE THE BOWELS.—MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP is the only thing that mothers can rely upon for their children. It corrects acidity of the stomach, regulates the bowels, and gives rest, health, and comfort to mother and child. During the process of teething, its value is incalculable. It softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and allays all pain, thereby giving rest to the child and comfort to the mother.

THIRTY YEARS' EXPERIENCE OF AN OLD NURSE.—MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP is the prescription of one of the best female physicians and nurses in the United States, and has been used for thirty years, with never-failing success, by millions of mothers for their children. It relieves the child from pain, cures dysentery and diarrhœa, griping in the bowels, and wind colic. By giving health to the child it rests the mother.

"BEAUTY BINDS THE HEARTS OF gods and men, rules when she will, both where and when." The only innocent and reliable article to realize beauty is Dr. GOURAUD'S ORIENTAL CREAM, or MAGICAL BEAUTIFIER. Found at his depot, No. 48 Bond st., and of druggists.

BOARD OF

COMMISSIONERS OF RAPID TRANSIT,

CITY OF NEW-YORK.

OFFICE OF THE BOARD OF COMMISSIONERS OF RAPID TRANSIT,
NEW COURT-HOUSE, NEW-YORK, Sept. 27, 1875.

The Board of Commissioners appointed by the Mayor, under and in compliance with the provisions of chapter 606, Laws of 1875, hereby gives public notice that the submission of plans for the construction and operation of Rapid-transit Railways is hereby again invited; such plans must be shown by drawings or models, and accompanied by descriptions in writing, if descriptions are to be made; and the Commissioners will request the attendance before the board of the person or persons submitting the plans, which, in the opinion of the board, have merit, and which require explanation and description more in detail than the description in writing accompanying the plans when submitted.

The Board of Commissioners hereby further gives notice that the Commissioners will meet at 12 o'clock M., on MONDAY, the 4th day of October, 1875, at the office of the board in the New Court-house, and decide upon the plan or plans for the construction of such railway or railways, with the necessary supports, turnouts, switches, sidings, connections, landing places, stations, buildings, platforms, stairways, elevators, telegraph and signal devices, or other requisite appliances upon the route or routes, and in the locations determined by them. JOSEPH SELIGMAN, President.

TROTTING AT FLEETWOOD PARK—BESSIE AND ELLA MADDEN THE WINNERS.

The first Fall meeting at Fleetwood Park for the season of 1875 was begun yesterday afternoon with two trotting contests, neither of which was in any degree remarkable. The weather was all that could be desired and the track was in splendid condition, but the contests, save for trifling incidents mentioned further on, were tame beyond comparison. In the first event, which was for horses that had never trotted better than 2:38, there were eight entries, five of which put in an appearance. There was little betting, Susie being made a strong favorite over the field. Then some one said that the little mare had a record of better than 2:38, and that put a stop to all further pool-selling. Subsequently the objections to Susie were made public by Mr. Dougrey, who protested to the judges that the mare had made better time than that mentioned, but that it had been suppressed by or with the connivance of the owner. The Frenchman who owns the mare had a sorry show of it, so voluble was Dougrey with his profane remarks. The judges finally decided that Susie was entitled to start. The result of the first heat, as announced by the judges, was unsatisfactory. Susie, who was third, took the pole going around the first quarter, only to lose it, however, on the lower end, where she acted badly. Here Bessie took the lead, only to surrender it to Hope while going up the far side. After the lot had passed the half-mile post the little mare settled down to her work, and with some speedy trotting overhauled Hope and challenged Bessie for the lead. Down the stretch the gray mare kept ahead, and when they went under the wire she seemed a leader by a head, although Dougrey wished it otherwise. The judges gave the heat to Susie. There were those present who charged it was done to save the gray mare's record; but this was untrue, as subsequent events proved. The second heat resulted in favor of Bay Jack, who won with seeming ease. Susie started away well, but at the quarter pole broke badly; nor did she do any more trotting until on the last quarter, up to which time the driver had run her to save his distance. Murphy, who was driving Hope, acted in like manner. Once the gray mare seemed likely to pass Bay Jack; but a tap of the whip sent him along, and the big gray was speedily left in the rear.

Before they started for the third heat Dougrey was removed and "Johnny" Murphy transferred from his own to Bessie's sulky, while Mr. Dickerman, superintendent of the track, was put up behind Hope. This change was necessary, and was intended to "break the slate" supposed to have been arranged by certain dishonest persons. They got the word on a good send-off, and Bessie at once shot to the fore, a position she refused to relinquish. Bay Jack gave her a brush around the lower turn, but it amounted to naught. Then Bessie increased her lead, and had Murphy wished to do so he could have distanced the lot. There was no particular need of it, however, and in order to save the mare's record he pulled up and slowly jogged her home. When Murphy went in to weigh he was a pound short, and under the rules this distanced the winner of the heat. Somehow and somewhere Murphy had lost his "pound of flesh," much to his own annoyance and the disgust of every honest person on the track. The judges deliberated over the matter a long time, and having discussed the subject in all its bearings came to the conclusion that in order that the rogues might be properly punished they would strain a point, so far as the rule was concerned, and award the heat to Bessie. The decision was generally acquiesced in. The gray mare won the fourth heat, not without a struggle, however. Coming up the hill, after they had left the lower end, Susie made a bold effort for the leadership. The struggle between these two was a good one, and Murphy was forced to send the gray along to save the heat. In doing so he gave Bessie (late Sleepy Mary) a record which was just what Mr. Dougrey didn't want. The fifth and last heat was won handily by Bessie. She took the lead from the word go and kept it all the way around, beating Susie home four lengths. Following is the summary:

FLEETWOOD PARK, NEW-YORK, Tuesday, Sept. 28, 1875.—First day of the Fall meeting; purse of $400 for horses that have never trotted better than 2:38; $225 to first, $100 to second, and $75 to third; best three in five, in harness.

There will be two races to-day, commencing at 2 o'clock. The first is for horses of the 2:44 class, and the second for those which have never beaten 2:31. The management promises that all attempts on the part of drivers to defraud the public will, if detected, be promptly punished.

TROTTING AT PROSPECT PARK FAIR GROUNDS.

Several gentlemen interested in the breeding of trotters, with their ladies, were at the Prospect Park Fair Grounds yesterday to witness the match for $1,000 between the three-year-old fillies Libbie Mills, owned by Mr. Griswold, of the Fifth Avenue Hotel, and Athlena, owned by H. W. T. Mall. The former has been in the care of Carl Burr, and before the start she was the favorite at $20 to $12 over her competitor. The contest was of short duration, and was finished in one heat. They started away on the first asking on even terms, the pace being very slow. On the turn Athlena broke and Libby opened a gap of six lengths at the quarter pole. Down the back-stretch Athlena again left her feet, and at the half-mile pole Libby left her competitor fifteen or twenty lengths behind. Athlena again breaking on the lower turn, Libby came away, and Athlena was far beyond the distance stand when Libby passed under the string.

TROTTING AT ELMIRA.

ELMIRA, N. Y., Sept. 28.—The inaugural meeting of the Elmira Driving Park Association opened here to-day under the most auspicious circumstances. The weather was all that could be desired excepting a slight wind. The attendance was very large, and the track was in splendid condition. The trotting was very good.

There were nine entries for the first race—three-minute class—for a purse of $800. Five started. Tillie won, Countess second, Jennie S. third, and Billy Moscow fourth. Time—2:40, 2:40¼, 2:40¾, 2:42. The running race, for a purse of $300, half-mile heats, best three in five, was won in three straight heats by Nettie B., Hartland second, Ida Wells third, Joe Elliott fourth. Time—52½, 52, 51¾. The 2:34 race, for a purse of $1,200, had thirteen entries and nine starters. Two heats only were trotted, Frank taking the first in 2:34, and Dan Bryant the second in the same time. The race will be finished to-morrow.

THE POOL-SELLING.

The pool-selling at the Turf Exchange in Twenty-eighth street, and at Johnson's Club-room, last evening, was hardly so animated as usual. A number of pools were sold at both places, but, as a rule, the amounts invested were small, and mainly confined to the trotting contests at Fleetwood. The following pools were about the average of those sold: Turf Exchange—2:31 class: Bainbridge, $50; Jericho, $20; Lookout, $10; Little Dorrit, $10; Maxwell, $30. 2:44 class: Dick Croker, $30; Thomas Davis, $10; Mart Royce, $12; Field, $30. Johnson's Club-rooms—2:44 class: Dick Croker, $40; Rocky Hill, $10; Davis, $10; Field, $15. 2:31 class: Jericho, $40; Bainbridge, $16; Maxwell, $12; Lookout, $10; Little Dorrit, $10.

ATHLETIC SPORTS.

About twenty-five hundred persons assembled yesterday on the Skating Park at Yonkers to witness the games of the athletic members of the Yonkers Lyceum. The programme consisted of eighteen different games. The first was throwing the hammer, which was won by Mr. Frazer. The running high leap was won by Mr. J. Mason, Mr. Frazer winning the second prize; the standing jump was won by Mr. E. J. Mason, Mr. S. C. Dole taking second prize, and in the standing high jump Mr. P. Frazer was the victor. The short race of 100 yards was won by T. B. Irvine in 11½ seconds, and a running jump for two prizes followed, which was won by P. Frazer and T. B. Irvine. A second race of 100 yards for juniors took place, and was won by F. S. Ackerman in 12 seconds. The race for a quarter of a mile was won by T. B. Irvine, Oliver Adams coming in second. Mr. Frazer won the prize for "putting the stone." A walking match of one mile was won by L. C. Dole, and in the one mile running race the prizes were given to C. H. Harriot and O. Adams. The prizes for a three-mile walking race were carried off by L. C. Dole and C. C. Shaw. Two hurdle races—one for juniors and one for seniors—then followed, the winner being F. S. Ackerman in the first and T. B. Irvine in the second. The sack race was won by P. Frazer, who displayed much agility in leaping over hurdles. Mr. John Watt, Capt. Joe Peene, M. K. Cozens, and H. F. Van Stock acted as judges. The games commenced shortly after 1 o'clock and ended at 6.

THE RIFLE AT CREEDMOOR.

OPENING OF THE AUTUMN MEETING OF THE NATIONAL RIFLE ASSOCIATION.

The Autumn meeting of the National Rifle Association opened at Creedmoor yesterday morning. The first train from Hunter's Point conveyed a large number of marksmen to the range, who were anxious to obtain additional practice, and took advantage of the opportunity afforded by the pool targets for that purpose. The officers of the association proceeded to the range by the 9:30 A. M. train from Hunter's Point. An immense crowd of marksmen accompanied the officers, completely filling twenty cars. The "Judd" Match was the first contest on the programme, and the number of entries was rapidly increased to 188. The first gun was fired at 11:15 o'clock as a signal for the marksmen to take their places at the targets, and twenty minutes later the match commenced. There was very little wind blowing, and the weather was generally conceded to be of the finest description for good marksmanship. The contest was finished at 1:10 P. M., after which an intermission of one hour was taken for lunch. Following are the scores of the winners:

There were three "ties" to be shot off in the foregoing match; the first between Messrs. Edmundstone, Gee, and Holton, in which Mr. Gee distanced his competitors by making a "bull's-eye," while the other gentlemen, by making a "centre" and "inner" respectively, retained the same relative positions. Messrs. Le Boutillier and Frothingham "tied" on a score of 28, and on shooting off Mr. Frothingham took precedence by scoring a "bull's-eye." The last "tie" was on the score of 27, between Messrs. Sanford, Smith, and Holland, in which Mr. Holland by making a "centre" placed himself at the head. Mr. Smith made a "bull's-eye," and took the eighteenth place in the list of winners.

The Short-range Match was begun at 2 o'clock, the contestants numbering 257. The conditions were the same as in the previous match, and no time was lost in altering the targets. The winning scores were as follows:

In connection with the prizes awarded to winners in the foregoing matches a prize was awarded by the Second Division staff to the troop making the highest score. This was won by the Separate Troop of the Fifth Brigade on a score of 96 out of a possible 125 points. The first stages of the First and Second Divisions match were contested and completed shortly after 5:30 P. M. The second stages, the first stage of New-York State National Guard Match, the Laflin & Rand Powder Company's Match, the Army and Navy Journal and the Gatling Matches will be shot this forenoon. The matches were conducted in an excellent manner under the direction of Gen. T. S. Dakin, Chief Executive Officer; Capt. J. G. Story, Statistical Officer, and Col. Thompson.

BASE-BALL.

THE NEW-HAVEN CLUB DEFEAT THE MUTUALS BY A SCORE OF 8 TO 6—OTHER GAMES.

The New-Haven Club and the Mutuals, of this City, played the sixth game of the championship series yesterday afternoon on the Union Grounds, in Brooklyn. It was a closely contested game up to the sixth inning, when the score stood 2 to 1 in favor of the New-Havens. In the sixth inning, however, several bad errors were made by Gerhardt at third base, which gave the New-Havens six more runs. The Mutuals then changed Nelson from left field to third base, and Gerhardt from the latter position to left field. After this the playing of the Mutuals improved, and their opponents were unable to score any more runs. It was too late, however, for the Mutuals to retrieve their losses, and although they made four runs in the last two innings, the game was won by the New-Haven Club by a score of 8 to 6. In the pool selling before the game the Mutuals were the favorites at one hundred to forty. Pools were also sold at the rate of two to one that the Mutuals would win in one inning. The playing of the New-Haven Club has much improved since they organized their new nine.

A game was played on the Capitoline Grounds, in Brooklyn, yesterday afternoon between the Alaska and Keystone Clubs, both of this City. It was won by the Alaskas, in an easy victory, by a score of 15 to 5.

This afternoon the great annual match, New-York against Brooklyn, will be played on the Union Grounds. The two sides are composed of ten players each, picked with great care from the leading amateur clubs of the two cities. Four prizes are offered by Mr. Cammeyer, two on each side, for the best batting and fielding, to be decided upon by a committee of three. No player is eligible for more than one prize. Last year the New-Yorkers won by a score of four to nothing.

This afternoon there will be a game between the Hoboken Club and the Olympics, of Paterson, on the grounds of the latter, in Paterson, N. J.

Yesterday the Hoboken Police and the Newark Police played their first game of the season on the Elysian Fields, Hoboken, in the presence of a great many spectators. They played a far better fielding game than is usually played by amateurs. Appended is the score by innings:

	1st.	2d.	3d.	4th.	5th.	6th.	7th.	8th.	9th.
Hoboken Police	1	1	1	1	2	1	0	1	0	—8
Newark Police	1	2	3	0	0	1	0	3	0	—10

A LADIES' SAILING RACE.

The Seawanhaka Yacht Club has arranged for a ladies' race day, to be sailed in New-York Harbor on Oct. 2 at 11 o'clock. The steamer will leave the Battery at 9:30 o'clock in the forenoon for the starting point. As the yachts are to carry ladies, they will sail in ordinary cruising trim, with boats and anchors on board, and for ease and convenience of working club topsails and main-topmast staysails will not be allowed. The course will be from the Narrows to and around Sandy Hook Light-ship and return. The race is to be one of time allowances.

THE FAST MAIL TRAINS.

A feeling has prevailed among commercial men since the establishment of the new Fast Mail trains that their interests were being sacrificed to those of the morning newspapers by the Post Office Department. The idea got abroad that mercantile letters were delayed until morning, and that the time of transmission to the West was thereby increased instead of diminished under the new arrangement. A number of merchants and publishers of evening newspapers met at No. 17 Broadway yesterday, and Major Bangs addressed the assemblage, explaining the system of railway service of the United States very fully and said that the City could not possibly be better served than it is at present. The fast morning trains from this City had been arranged to catch most of the through trains in the West. Thus everything combined to render a fast evening train of no practical value. In planning the new service all these things had been carefully weighed, the principal object being to accommodate the large cities which are the distributing agencies. Should any new considerations of importance be offered to the department Major Bangs promised that care would be taken to give them the attention they might demand.

A LECTURE TO MEDICAL STUDENTS.

CHANCELLOR CROSBY BEFORE THE MEDICAL DEPARTMENT OF THE UNIVERSITY OF NEW-YORK.

The introductory lecture to the course of 1875-6 of the medical department of the University of the City of New-York was delivered last evening at the new college building, No. 410 East Twenty-sixth street, by Rev. Howard Crosby, D.D., LL. D., Chancellor of the University. The auditorium was filled with medical students, and a fair proportion of ladies graced the proceedings with their presence. Among the prominent physicians in attendance were Profs. Martin Paine, Alfred C. Post, Charles A. Budd, John C. Draper, Alfred L. Loomis, William Darling, William H. Thomson, J. W. S. Arnold, John T. Darby, Charles Inslee Pardee, Erskine Mason, D. B. St. John Roosa, William A. Hammond, Lewis A. Sayre, Stephen Smith, and Faneuil D. Weisse. The exercises were opened with reading of the Scriptures by Rev. Dr. Taylor, of the Broadway Tabernacle, and a few words of welcome and encouragement were delivered by Prof. Post. Dr. Crosby then delivered the introductory address, selecting as the special subject of thought the "Ethics of Medical Men." As a lecturer, Dr. Crosby possesses the rare faculty of combining humor with fact. Having placed himself on a footing with the audience by a fanciful description of his unfitness to address a medical assemblage, when he could not distinguish between erysipelas and measles, he pictured the immense power exercised by the physician, and his great capacity for good or evil. The science of medicine had done wonders for the world, but there were defects in its practice, and among those which he considered deserving of special censure were uncleanliness of person and brusqueness of manner on the part of medical practitioners. The one was offensive to the patient and the other was out of place in the stillness of the sick chamber. The solemn looking practitioner was alike the object of his aversion, for he did not believe in grave-stones until the soul had left the body. The assumption of mystery was also to be deprecated, but he considered it a duty due to the religious future of the patient and to science to inform him of his approaching death if it asserted itself to his practiced eye. He was opposed also to the system of advertising, which reduced science within the domain of quackery, and with regard to doctors' fees, he considered that the payment should be adequate to the service and the means of the patient, but that it should always be based upon a broad philanthropy. He condemned, finally, all hobbies as essentially antagonistic to true science, and, adverting to the occasion of their assemblage, he congratulated the students upon the happy auspices under which they were united. The energy and fidelity to duty which resulted in the erection of their splendid college was the best guarantee of their future success. For more than thirty years that school of medicine had held an exalted place in medical science, many brilliant names had been connected with it, and the lustre of their genius was undimmed by their deaths. There never was, however, a period when the faculty was superior to the present standard, and he assured the students that diligence, moral conduct, and a faithful observance of their college duties were only necessary to insure their success in their profession.

CAPT. BURDEN DISMISSED.

At the meeting of the Board of Police yesterday a communication was received from Counselor Edmund E. Price, demanding the return of $3,400 taken from Andrew Smith, arrested by the Police during a raid on the gambling house of Michael Murray, No. 135 Eighth street. A letter was also received from George W. Stevens, of No. 362 Grand street, asking the return of $33 taken from him on his being arrested in a gambling-house corner of Broome street and Bowery. These communications were referred to the Committee on Rules and Discipline. In reference to the demand of Virgil Whitcomb for the return of gambling implements seized on his premises, No. 17 West Twenty-eighth street, an opinion was submitted from the counsel to the board, advising the return of the property, as Whitcomb had been discharged by the Police Justice before whom he was arraigned. The board accepted the report, but decided not to surrender the property unless compelled to do so by legal procedure. The application of the Citizens' Protective Association for the appointment of a special officer, whose salary should be paid by the association, was denied, the board having no authority to make such appointment. Commissioner Voorhis moved that the Mayor and Common Council be requested to transfer to the Police Department lots of ground in East Fifty-first and Sixty-seventh streets, to be used as sites for station-houses to be erected in the Nineteenth Precinct. The motion was adopted. The case of Capt. Henry Burden, of the Twelfth Precinct, charged by William A. Martinott with corrupt practices while in command of the Twenty-ninth Precinct, was then taken up. Commissioner Voorhis moved that Capt. Burden be dismissed. The motion was carried, all the Commissioners voting in the affirmative. Patrolmen Almon W. Gould, of the Fourteenth Precinct; Michael Brooks and John J. Cosgrove, of the Twenty-second Precinct, and Cornelius O'Brien, of the Seventh Precinct, were dismissed for improper conduct. The board then adjourned.

LORD & TAYLOR'S FALL OPENING.

Had the weather been made to order, yesterday, it could not have been more favorable for the immense throng of ladies that crowded Lord & Taylor's store, at Twentieth street and Broadway, to look at the beautiful costumes, choice bonnets, handsome cloaks, elegantly-fitting shoes, &c. Among the most attractive dresses was a pale, sea-green satin, with an immense train composed of a bulgare plait at the waist, and falling in broad, fan shape at the bottom. The only trimming was three sashes of green crepe cut in points front and sides and edged with small marabout feathers. These covered the front of the skirt, and five folds of the same finished the square-cut corsage at the bust and shoulders, while short points back and front defined the waist. The bottom of the skirt was finished by a knife, plaited ruffle of satin two inches wide, and an elegant green satin fan tipped with marabout feathers hung at the left side.

A fine imported costume was of brocaded lavender with a green cast, and a faille skirt of mauve, the round apron of brocade, with a deep netted and tasseled fringe met, two large puffs at the back, and confined under the edges of the same, with fine shirrs. A deep train was box-plaited under the puffs and trimmed with small flounces of mauve and lavender, alternating with puffs and shirrings of the mauve; corsage of brocade, mauve, half-sleeves with brocade ruffles and puffs.

A skirt of seal-brown silk had a scant bias flounce of the same, set on with piping of golden silk and puffs of the brown above, double apron of diagonal serge with braid, two inches wide, of brown and gold, set on the edges under straps of the diagonal piped with golden silk. The apron was buttoned on to the bottom of the round basque with embroidered buttons. Sleeves serge and silk, the upper part cut in Greek pattern, and finished with brown and gold braid. The new goods—that somebody says resembles old-time rag carpet—is called neige de Spitzberg, and is light, warm, and durable. Several costumes were of this goods in combination with silk of a suitable color, and looked quite tasteful.

In bonnets and hats the display this season surpasses that of any previous one in elegance of finish and beauty of design. There were a number of imported hats of rich material and complicated construction, but none of these seemed to please the refined taste of the ladies so well as those made up in the store. A steel-gray felt crown and beaver brim, with rolls of scarlet velvet under the brim and bows of the same at the side, clasped with a handsome gilt buckle and two steel tips, falling over the crown, was one of the prettiest hats shown.

Bronze, kid, and black satin shoes are revived for the house and carriage, and box toes are all the rage; silk velvet tops, with very low kid foxings, and fancy cloths in brown and black plaids are much used for ladies' and children's button boots, while the Marseilles sole, with men's square heels, are the thing for the promenade.

In cloaks the assortment was accordance with the well-known reputation of this house. The shades of evening silks are well represented in Mecca clair, and the counters are laden with myrtle, prune, Carmelite, and choice plaids for the promenade. The opening exhibition will continue to-day and to-morrow, and will amply repay a visit.

ATTEMPTED WIFE MURDER.

At 10 o'clock last night, Bernard McDonnell quarrelled with his wife, Dora, in their apartments, at No. 715 Eighth street. During the quarrel McDowell assaulted her with a case-knife and attempted to cut her throat. In the struggle which ensued the woman was cut twice on the chin and on her hand. The attempt to murder his wife would no doubt have proved successful but for the prompt appearance of Patrolman Ginley, of the Eleventh Precinct, who rushed into the room and secured the would-be murderer. He was locked up at the Union Market Police Station.

CITY AND SUBURBAN NEWS.

NEW-YORK.

Mr. Tilton will lecture to-night at Cooper Union. His subject is "The Problem of Life."

Charles K. Blohm, No. 142 Prince street, and John Cyriacks, of No. 157 Spring street, were fined $150 each in Special Sessions yesterday, for adulterating milk.

Patrick Morton, aged nineteen, a resident of Brooklyn, while at work on a schooner, at Pier No. 14 East River, yesterday, fell down the main hatchway and was seriously injured.

An unknown Italian, aged fifty years, was found yesterday in Webber's lane, King's Bridge, completely prostrated with intermittent fever, and was removed to Bellevue Hospital.

Martin Hooper, of No. 45 Pitt street, while at work on the new building, corner of Fulton and William streets, yesterday, accidentally fell from a scaffold and sustained serious injuries.

William Williart, aged nineteen, of No. 198 East Broadway, attempted to commit suicide last evening while in the saloon, No. 77 Chrystie street, by shooting himself in the left breast with a revolver. He was sent to Bellevue Hospital.

Charles Weston, William Thompson, and William Ellis, the three negroes arrested for the murder of the peddler in West Farms, were taken back to the Tombs yesterday, after having been present at the inquest held on Monday.

At a meeting of tax-payers of the Nineteenth Assembly District on Monday evening last, Mr. Adam Martin in the chair, the West Side Independent Association was organized and steps taken to nominate independent candidates for local offices.

Capt. Van Dusen, of the Fifteenth Precinct, last evening, "raided" on the disorderly houses Nos. 209 and 219 Greene street, and Nos. 38 and 127 West Third street, and the inmates to the number of sixteen were lodged in the Mercer Street Police Station.

George Kutcher, of No. 109 Second street, was arrested yesterday for having, through two boys, passed two forged checks for $415 on the Mechanics' and Traders' Bank in Brooklyn. William Pakulski, a barber under the Prescott House, was also arrested for connection with the affair.

During a quarrel last evening between William Barnes, of No. 222 East Broadway, and Henry Tiefson, at No. 10 Hester street, the latter struck the former on the head with an iron bar, injuring him severely. Barnes was taken home and his assailant escaped.

The Atlantic and Pacific Telegraph Company have leased the old Western Union building, No. 145 Broadway, corner Dey street, for five years, at an annual rental of $14,000. The building has been recently refitted, painted, and repaired throughout. The company's lease of their present quarters expires Jan. 1, 1876.

Ex-Gov. Bigler, the Financial Agent of the Centennial Commission reports that the subscriptions collected in this City to date amount in the aggregate to $250,000. It will, he thinks, be an easy matter to swell this sum to $400,000, as subscriptions are now coming in faster than at any other time since the establishment of the bureau in this City.

The remains of a man, supposed to be John Riley, of No. 612 East Sixteenth street, were found last evening floating in the North River. A brass watch and chain, a pocket-book containing $1 in currency, a small brass key, and a bill of Atchinson & Hamill, of No. 414 East Fourteenth street, made out in the name of John Riley, were found on his person.

At a late hour on Monday night, an unknown man in a light wagon drove overboard at the foot of West Fifty-first street and was drowned. The horse and wagon were carried away by the tide and no trace of them has been obtained. Yesterday morning the body of the man was recovered and sent to the Morgue for identification. On his person were found two gold studs and an open-faced gold watch.

The officials of the Direct Cable Company in this City, said yesterday that they had received advices locating the break in shallow water, at the entrance of Placentia Bay, fifty miles from the American side of Cape Race. The construction-steamer has been dispatched to the scene of the break, and the officials expect that the damage will be repaired within three weeks.

BROOKLYN.

At a special meeting of the Board of Health, yesterday, Dr. Smith was appointed Ambulance Surgeon for the Eastern District.

Caroline Dotten has commenced suit in the City Court against her husband, George F. Dotten, a prominent builder of this city, for divorce.

At a meeting of the Park Commissioners last night the Financial Secretary submitted a report, showing that for the month of August there was expended by the commission $15,859 09.

The house No. 61 Cranberry street, owned by Mr. Ezekiel Baldwin, who is at present in the country with his family, was broken into yesterday and a large amount of property stolen. No arrests.

Conrad Heckeroth was sent to jail by Surrogate Veeder yesterday for contempt of court, in refusing to pay $200 belonging to Amelia Teresa Carney, which he had taken while acting as her guardian.

Edgar Massey, of No. 59 Hicks street, was arrested last night for threatening the life of John Tranor, of No. 149 Tillary street. Massey fired his revolver in the street, but claims that he did not direct it toward Tranor.

Coroner Simms held an inquest yesterday on the body of Martha Manser, a child eighteen months old, who died on Monday morning from chewing the heads of sulphur matches. The jury returned a verdict in accordance with the facts.

To-night Rev. Dr. Fulton, of the Hanson Place Baptist Church, will preach on "Church Troubles in Brooklyn." The sermon, it is believed, will be devoted principally to a discussion of the dissensions which have recently arisen in Dr. Fulton's own church.

The special committee appointed by the Kings County Board of Supervisors to investigate alleged abuses in the County Penitentiary, met yesterday at the Brooklyn City Court-house, but as the complainants failed to appear, even after invitation, the committee closed the investigation and adjourned to report on Thursday, Oct. 6.

A letter was received by Coroner Simms yesterday from Mr. John Forsyth, a broker, of Chicago, asking for information of the widow and heirs of Franklin C. Gray, who committed suicide in 1853 or 1854, by throwing himself from a railroad train in this county. It is said there is a fortune awaiting the heirs of Gray in Chicago. Coroner Simms had the records of the office searched, but was unable to find any reference to Gray's death.

During the trial of the case of Marvin versus Palmer, in the County Court, yesterday, the defendant, who is a lawyer, while conducting his own case, called one of the witnesses a contemptible liar. Judge Moore at once ordered the lawyer under arrest. The latter, after being detained a short time, was released, after a severe reprimand from the Court. The Judge said it was a cowardly thing to insult a witness in court as Palmer had done.

In the Court of Appeals to-day the appeal of the District Attorney from the decision of the General Term of the Supreme Court reversing the conviction of the Charity Commissioners Wells, Powell, and Ferguson, for malfeasance in office, will be argued. Gov. Tilden, pending the appeal, has appointed Cornelius Ferguson, one of the convicted Commissioners, to the office of Shore Inspector in Kings County. The reversal of the conviction in the General Term was founded on a legal technicality.

STATEN ISLAND.

At Edgewater, Staten Island, on Monday evening, the officers of Klopstock Lodge, No. 760, F. and A. M., a recently-organized Masonic body, were installed, and a very handsome new lodge-room dedicated, by M. W. Ellwood E. Thorne, Grand Master, assisted by the Grand Lodge. After the ceremonies a collation was served at the German Club-house. The officers of the new lodge are: Emil Zeech, W. Master; August Horman, Senior Warden, and Friederick De Plank, Junior Warden. About thirty prominent Masons from New-York, including officers of the Grand Lodge and Masters of German lodges in that City, were present on the occasion.

NEW-JERSEY.

An unknown man committed suicide yesterday morning by throwing himself into the Hackensack River near the Pennsylvania Railroad bridge. The remains were taken to the Morgue to await identification.

About noon yesterday, while Bertha Balke, a servant girl in the employ of Amzi Pierson, No. 172 Plane street, Newark, was in the yard washing clothes her clothing caught fire from a furnace, and before the flames could be extinguished received injuries which may prove fatal.

At a late hour on Monday night as John O'Rourke, a laborer, who resides at No. 71 Washington street, Jersey City, was on his way home through Van Vorst street, he was attacked by three men who knocked him down, and, after beating him severely, robbed him.

About dusk Monday evening a well-dressed man, who was passing along Newark avenue, Jersey City, picked up a little child, eighteen months old, the son of James Rikeman, from the sidewalk where he was playing, and placing one hand over the child's mouth walked away rapidly in the direction of Jersey avenue. A boy who saw the occurrence informed the boy's mother, and she started after the abductor. The man had reached Jersey avenue when Mrs. Rikeman overtook him, and he dropped the child on the sidewalk and ran away, disappearing around the corner of Railroad avenue. The occurrence gave Mrs. Rikeman a severe shock.

A LARGE REPUBLICAN MEETING.

The old church in Thirty-fifth street, between Eighth and Ninth avenues, recently rented as a permanent head-quarters by the Republican Association of the Fifteenth Assembly District, was crowded last evening by the Republicans of the district. Mr. Henry G. Leask, the President of the association, occupied the chair, and introduced Major Willard Ballard, who entertained the assemblage with an eloquent address on the present political issues, State and national. After some eulogistic remarks on the platform and candidates of the Saratoga Convention, he said, referring to the respective records of the Republican and Democratic Parties, that the latter was solely responsible for the evils that now harass the country. In this City alone the people were suffering from the imposition of three per cent. taxes, because of the robbery of $300,000,000 by the adherents of the Democratic Party. The worst feature of the State and national debt, was that to-day we are completely prostrated, and that willing labor cannot find any employment, capitalists finding a more profitable investment in the bonds of the nation. He said that the free schools should be as free from the taint of sectarianism as is the Constitution of the United States. Upon the protection of the schools from the influence of creed depended the prosperity and peace of the Republic and the continuance of a republican form of government. The speaker concluded by dwelling at length upon the well-known merits of the Republican State nominees and their capability of performing the duties of the offices to which they had been nominated. An address by Rev. Mr. Moorhouse closed the proceedings.

THE KINGS COUNTY REPUBLICAN GENERAL COMMITTEE.

The Executive Committee of the Kings County Republican General Committee met last evening at Sawyer's Hall, for the purpose of appointing a time for the holding of the primaries at which delegates to the various nominating conventions are to be appointed, and also to discuss the merits of the men who are likely to be placed in nomination. The meeting was a private one, but many prominent Republicans from the different wards in the City were in attendance by invitation of the committee. The primaries were fixed for Oct. 7. During the discussion on candidates the names of Frederick A. Schroeder and Ripley Ropes were mentioned in connection with the Mayoralty.

THE GOLD AND STOCK TELEGRAPH COMPANY.

The Gold and Stock Telegraph Company held their annual meeting yesterday afternoon in their rooms in the Western Union building. The following gentlemen were elected Directors for the ensuing year: William Orton, N. Green, T. R. Edson, J. H. Banker, M. Lefferts, A. B. Cornell, H. R. Pierson, G. B. Prescott, and Augustus Schell. The following were chosen inspectors of election: C. Livingston, J. H. Fisher, S. M. Taylor. The President read his annual report, showing the company to be in a very satisfactory condition. There had, he said, been a general improvement in its business during the year, despite the bad times. A dividend of three per cent. had been declared, and there was every indication that the treasury would be able to pay a similar dividend semi-annually from this time forth. The figures were refused to the reporters. At the close of the meeting the new Board of Directors convened and elected Marshall Lefferts President, and Henry H. Ward Secretary and Treasurer.

THE QUEENS COUNTY FAIR.

The Fall exhibition of the Queens County Agricultural Society opened at Mineola yesterday under favorable circumstances. The show of cattle is, perhaps, not quite so fine as it was last Fall, but the character of the stock is excellent, particularly the lot of Jerseys exhibited by Mr. William Crozier, of Northport. There are numerous other good specimens of imported stock from Queens, Suffolk, and other counties in the State. Among the main attractions are the two enormous cattle of the Central Park Stock Farm of Poughkeepsie—a steer weighing nearly four thousand pounds, and a heifer weighing about three thousand pounds. There is on exhibition a fine lot of Southdowns, Cotswold, and other breeds of sheep, while the show of swine, especially Berkshires, is very good. The vegetable kingdom is well represented, the show in this department being probably the largest ever seen in Queen's County. There are no less than thirty-nine specimens of poultry exhibited, while geese and ducks in almost countless numbers gobble and quack from many a coop. The ladies seem most interested in a large hall near the centre of the grounds. Here is exhibited specimens of needle, crochet, and worsted work; also a number of water-color pictures. In the main hall the flowers and fruits are exhibited. In fruit there are grapes, apples, pears, peaches, plums, cranberries, and blackberries. One bunch of grapes weighs no less than three pounds. The display of fruit is equal to that of any previous year. The exhibition of machines, cooking stoves and utensils, and of horses and farming implements is better than the average. The fair will continue to-day and to-morrow.

THE HORSE DISEASE.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 28.—The horse disease which has prevailed in the Northern cities for same time past has reached Washington. About a hundred horses belonging to one of the street car companies are affected by it, and the disorder is prevailing to some extent in other quarters. Fortunately however, the disease is less serious in its character than the complaint which visited the country several years ago.

TERRIBLE FELLOWS FOR NAPPING.—HATTERS.—This suggests to us that KNOX has introduced his Fall style of gentlemen's HATS, the demand for which is lively and active, at No. 212 Broadway, No. 533 Broadway, and in the Fifth Avenue Hotel. Don't fail to buy your hat of KNOX.—Advertisement.

CURE OF CATARRH.

Dr. LIGHTHILL takes pleasure and pride in submitting to sufferers from Catarrh the following testimonial from a gentleman widely known in business and social circles:

TESTIMONIAL FROM R. B. LIVERMORE, ESQ.

NEW-YORK, Sept. 2, 1875.

My attention having been attracted to a testimonial from Rev. Dr. Deems, the distinguished Pastor of the Church of the Strangers, certifying to the remarkable cure of Catarrh effected in the case of a member of his family by Dr. Lighthill, I concluded to try the Doctor's skill in a case of Catarrh of a very aggravated form, from which I had suffered for many years past, and which of late had seriously impaired my hearing. I am happy to state that Dr. Lighthill effected a radical and complete cure, removing, after a few months' treatment, every vestige of the Catarrh, and restoring my hearing to all its former acuteness and perfection. Dr. Lighthill's remarkable success in my case fully justifies the high praise bestowed upon him and his practice by Rev. Dr. Deems, and I cordially unite with him and others in recommending Dr. Lighthill to the confidence of the public.
